A Philosophical Forum

“Which UNESCO for the Future?”

5.30 p.m. – 7.00 p.m., Room X, Interpretation available

This debate will focus on a prospective analysis on how UNESCO needs to respond, and perhaps to re-model or re-invent itself vis-à-vis the contemporary society and the current needs of the intellectual, cultural and political fields in order to be a relevant intellectual and ethical Organization. This is thus about the relevance of the Organization in the world today, its proclaimed niche, and a critical analysis on whether UNESCO is living up to its mandate and constitution.

Souleymane Bachir Diagne (Senegal), Fatma Haddad-Chamakh (Tunisia), Edgar Morin (France), Hisashi Owada (Japan)
