DESCRIPTION OF REQUIREMENTS

UNOG requests expressions of interest from vendors who would be interested in conducting a formal evaluation of the UNISDR programme "Building Capacity for Increased Public Investment in Integrated Climate Change Adaptation (CCA) and Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR)", a European Commission funded 4 year initiative that aims to develop national capacity to incorporate DRR (and to the possible extent CCA) into public investment and planning systems.

The program consists of three main components to be evaluated:

1. Disaster loss and damage accounting: capacity building on using national disaster databases through practice.
2. Probabilistic Risk Profiles and Assessments: capacity building on process, results and application of these assessments.
3. Increased risk-sensitive planning and investment: Capacity building and national policy dialog on mainstreaming risk knowledge obtained in components 1 and 2 into Public Investment and planning systems.

The evaluation will look at the following aspects of the implementation: the process, the activities, the quality of the capacity building, the quality of the results, the partnerships, and the impacts of the initiative in the beneficiary countries. It is expected that the evaluation will provide a summary of Lessons Learnt and Conclusions, which will propose practical recommendations for follow-up and continued actions.

The evaluation will use desk reviews, interviews with UNISDR, partner and government officials to assess the programme, which will involve 4 discovery missions to selected regions (most probably Indian Ocean, the Caribbean, Asia, West Africa) and countries.

The evaluation will take place over 3 months, starting in September/October this year, and should produce a Preliminary Findings Report by November 15.
