Introductory note

The present chapter concerns the interpretation and application of rules 6 to 12 of the provisional rules of procedure of the Security Council, relating to the agenda. The chapter is divided into three parts. Unlike previous volumes of the Repertoire, the part concerning the adoption or amendment of rules 6 to 12 has been omitted in the present Supplement since, during the period under review, the Council did not consider any change in those rules.

Part I, The provisional agenda (rules 6-8 and rule 12), provides information on the circulation of communications by the Secretary-General and on the preparation and communication of the provisional agenda.

Part II, Adoption of the agenda (rule 9), contains material dealing with questions that were discussed in connection with the adoption of the agenda. Unlike in previous volumes of the Repertoire, no material was found for treatment concerning the procedure of the Council in voting on the adoption of the agenda, nor was there discussion in the Council of the requirements for the inclusion of an item in the agenda and the effect of such inclusion, or of other questions of procedure.

Part III, The agenda and matters of which the Security Council is seized (rules 10 and 11), relates to the list of matters under the Council's consideration. It includes an overview of Security Council decisions with regard to the retention and deletion of items on matters of which the Council was seized. The tables in part III supplement the tables in previous volumes of the Repertoire and indicate the changes that have since occurred in the list of matters of which the Security Council was seized.

Part I

The provisional agenda (rules 6-8 and 12)

Note

The provisional agenda, prepared by the Secretary-General and approved by the President of the Security Council in accordance with rule 7, includes those items that have been brought to the attention of the Council under rule 6. Under that rule, “the Secretary-General shall immediately bring to the attention of all representatives on the Security Council all communications from States, organs of the United Nations, or the Secretary-General concerning any matter for the consideration of the Security Council in accordance with the provisions of the Charter”. Effect is normally given to this rule by the distribution of communications as documents in the S/-series. Communications from regional arrangements or agencies received pursuant to Article 54 of the Charter are also circulated in the S/-series of documents.

Rule 7 entrusts the drawing up of the provisional agenda for each meeting to the Secretary-General, subject to the approval of the President of the Security Council. The Secretary-General’s discretion with respect to the inclusion of new items is restricted to those items that have been brought to the attention of the Council under rule 6. In addition to the express provisions of rule 7, the Secretary-General also has to take into account whether a specific request to include the item has been made.

Rule 8 concerns communication of the provisional agenda to the representatives on the Security Council, and rule 12, paragraph 1, concerns such communication for periodic meetings. Since, during the period under review, no periodic meetings were convened, no material relating to the latter rule was found.

Circulation of communications by the Secretary-General (rule 6). In accordance with rule 6, the Secretary-General continued the practice of distributing communications as documents in the S/-series. During the period under review, there were no instances in which the question of circulation of communications arose.

Preparation of the provisional agenda (rule 7). In accordance with rule 7, the Secretary-General continued the practice of drawing up the provisional agenda for each meeting, subject to the approval of the President of the Security Council. During the period under review, there was no instance in which the subject of the preparation of the provisional agenda gave rise to a discussion in the Council.

Communication of the provisional agenda (rule 8). In accordance with rule 8, the Secretary-General continued to communicate the provisional agenda to the representatives on the Security Council. Pursuant to prior decisions¹ of the Council, the provisional agenda for meetings of the Council were listed in the Journal of the United Nations, as were the topics to be discussed in informal consultations of the members of the Council.

Part II

Adoption of the agenda (rule 9)

Note

Under rule 9, the first item on the provisional agenda for each meeting of the Security Council is the adoption of the agenda.² In practice, the Council usually discusses and approves the provisional agenda in prior informal consultations and then adopts it at the formal meeting without a vote. Discussions or objections, raised on grounds related to the procedure of the Council in voting on the adoption of the agenda or the substance of the item(s) inscribed on the provisional agenda, are extremely rare. Objections on the adoption of the agenda are also precluded by the practice of the Council of inscribing a single substantive item on its provisional agenda for each meeting.

As in previous volumes of the Repertoire, part II is devoted to the proceedings of the Council on those occasions when objection was raised to the adoption of the agenda or other discussion took place in connection with the adoption of the agenda.

The following sections concern two case histories of discussions in the Council that relate to objection that had been raised to the adoption of the agenda in connection with the requirements for the inclusion of an item in the agenda (case 1) and the phrasing of agenda items (case 2). The case histories are not concerned with the grounds of objection, which are, however, briefly indicated. For the other subheadings dealing with the order of discussion of items on the agenda and precedence of the decision on adoption of the agenda, which were included in previous volumes of the Repertoire, no material was found for treatment during the period under review.

² There were several instances in which, in accordance with past practice, the President of the Council made preliminary remarks before the adoption of the agenda, including expressions of thanks, congratulations, tributes and expressions of sympathy. The latter categories also included the observation of a minute of silence. For example, at the 3617th meeting on 8 January 1996, the President spoke briefly to pay tribute to the memory of François Mitterand, former President of France.

Consideration of requirements for the inclusion of an item in the agenda

Case 1

At the 3868th meeting, the Council considered the agenda item entitled “Letter dated 11 March 1998 from the Deputy Permanent Representative of the United Kingdom addressed to the President of the Security Council; letter dated 27 March 1998 from the Permanent Representative of the United States addressed to the President of the Security Council”.³ At the start of the meeting, the President drew the attention of the Council members to a letter addressed to him from the representative of Yugoslavia,⁴ indicating the firm objection of the Government of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia to the inclusion of Kosovo and Metohija on the agenda of the Council on the grounds that it was “an internal matter of the Republic of Serbia”.

During the course of the meeting, Mr. Jovanovic reiterated the objection of the Government of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia to the consideration of the question of Kosovo and Metohija at the Council meeting on the grounds that it was an internal question that could not be the subject of deliberation of any international forum without the consent of the Government of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia. He further asserted that there was not and had never been any armed conflict in Kosovo and Metohija and thus there was no danger of a spillover or threat to peace and security.⁵

Other discussion on the adoption of the agenda: phrasing of the agenda item

Case 2

The significance to Member States of how agenda items are constructed was evidenced in the interventions of several delegations at the 3954th meeting on 16 December 1998 and its resumption on 23 December 1998, at which the Council considered the agenda item entitled “Maintenance of peace and security and post-conflict peacebuilding”. The delegations of Sweden and Tunisia noted that the wording of the agenda item reflected the close link between peacekeeping and post-conflict peacebuilding, and that the implications of that link were some of the most important challenges facing the Security Council and the United Nations as a whole.⁶ In the same meeting a different perspective on the agenda item’s wording was expressed by the delegation of Brazil.⁷ The representative of Brazil queried the absence of the word “international” in the agenda item, suggesting that it blurred any distinction between international and internal conflicts. He expressed concern that if peacebuilding was thought of as also being a result of efforts to contain or solve internal conflicts, the Security Council might be tempted to become a kind of “resurrected Trusteeship Council”, which he cautioned against.

Part III

The agenda and matters of which the Security Council is seized (rules 10 and 11)

Note

Rule 10 of the provisional rules of procedure was designed to enable the Security Council to continue, at its next meeting, the consideration of an item of unfinished business without subjecting that item to renewed debate in connection with the adoption of the agenda. No discussion concerning the application of that rule occurred during the period under review.

On many occasions, separate consecutive meetings were held on the same agenda item.⁸ In other instances, the meeting was suspended and resumed until the Council had completed that stage of its consideration of the item.⁹

Rule 11 provides for the Secretary-General to communicate each week to the representatives on the Security Council a summary statement of matters of which the Security Council is seized and of the stage reached in their consideration. In previous volumes of the Repertoire, it was noted that items on the agenda of the Council had remained on the Secretary-General’s summary statement when the tenor of the Council’s discussion or its specific decisions revealed a continuing concern with the matter. Additional evidence supporting such retention was provided when the President of the Council announced, upon conclusion of the debate, that the Council remained seized of a question.

In accordance with two decisions of the Council (see rule 11 below) taken during the period under consideration, items were deleted from the list of matters of which the Security Council was seized when (a) the item had not been considered in the preceding five years and no request for its retention had been made; or (b) the Council had formally concluded its consideration of the item.

The reformatted and streamlined tables appearing in the last section supplement the tables contained in the previous volumes of the Repertoire and indicate the changes that have since occurred in the list of matters of which the Council was seized.

⁸ For example, the 3634th and 3635th meetings, on the shooting down of two civil aircraft on 24 February 1996; the 3628th and 3629th meetings, on the situation in Angola; and the 3653rd and 3654th meetings, on the situation in the Middle East.

⁹ For example, the 3698th meeting, on the situation in the occupied Arab territories, held on 27 September and resumed on 28 September; the 3842nd meeting, on the situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina, held on 18 December 1997 and resumed on 19 December 1997; and the 3954th meeting, on post-conflict peacebuilding, held on 16 December 1998 and resumed on 23 December 1998.

Practice of the Security Council regarding the retention and deletion of items from the list of matters of which the Security Council is seized (rule 11)

During the period under review the Security Council decided to amend its previous practice with regard to the retention and deletion of items from its agenda. By its notes dated 22 and 29 August 1996,¹⁰ the Council decided that as of 15 September 1996, matters which had not been considered by the Council in the preceding five years would, subject to the consent of Member States concerned, be deleted from the list of matters of which the Council was seized. The procedure established by the Council to implement its decision requires the Secretary-General to identify in his annual summary statement on matters of which the Security Council was seized those items to be deleted from the list, in the absence of any notification by a Member State by a fixed date. That notification is to remain in effect for one year with the possibility of renewal. Although the note did not explicitly preclude the Council from taking separate decisions to delete items outside the above procedure, no such action was taken following the decision to amend its practice in this regard.¹¹

¹¹ The last instance of a separate decision to delete items from the Security Council agenda in the period under consideration was contained in a note by the President dated 24 January 1996 (S/1996/55).

Items are also deleted following a request addressed to the Secretary-General by the Member State concerned and in the absence of any objection on the part of the members of the Council. No such request was made. In addition, items may be deleted by a decision of the Council taken at the close of a Council meeting. This did not occur during the period under consideration.

Addition, retention and deletion of items during the period under review

Section A indicates items added to the list of matters of which the Council was seized during the period under review; section B indicates items appearing on previous lists for which new action by the Security Council was reported in the summary statements during the period 1996-1999; and section C indicates items deleted from the list during that period.¹² The tables show that, during the period under review, the Council included 35 new items in the list of matters of which it was seized and deleted over 50 items.
