INTRODUCTORY NOTE

As indicated in previous supplements to the Repertoire, Articles 31 and 32 of the Charter and rules 37 and 39 of the provisional rules of procedure of the Security Council provide that invitations to participate in the Council's discussion may be extended to States that are not members of the Council in the following circumstances: (a) when a Member of the United Nations brings a dispute or a situation to the attention of the Council in accordance with Article 35, paragraph 1 (rule 37); (b) when a Member of the United Nations or a State that is not a member of the United Nations is a party to a dispute (Article 32); and (c) when the interests of a Member of the United Nations are specially affected (Article 31 and rule 37). Moreover, members of the Secretariat or other persons may be invited to supply information or give other assistance (rule 39). Of these four categories of invitation, only the second involves an obligation of the Council. In extending invitations, however, the Council has continued to make no distinction between a complaint involving a dispute within the meaning of Article 32, a situation or a matter of another nature.

The classification of material relevant to participation in the proceedings of the Council is designed to illustrate the varieties of practice to which the Council has had recourse, adhering when possible to a classification based on Articles 31 and 32 of the Charter and rules 37 and 39 of the provisional rules of procedure. The Repertoire of the Practice of the Security Council, 1946-1951, explains that such a strict classification is impossible because the Council often decides to extend invitations to participate in its proceedings without pronouncing itself on the basis for such invitations.

The relevant material is set out in parts I and III of the present chapter. As there was no discussion during the period under review of the terms and provisions of Article 32, no entries have been made in part II.

Part I includes a note indicating that no discussion took place during the period under review of the basis on which an invitation might be deemed to rest with the exception of the case set out in section D.3 below, relating to the case of invitations not expressly under Articles 31 or 32 or rule 39. Included in this part is a tabulation of invitations extended by the Council.

Part III includes a note indicating that limitations on the participation of invited representatives were minimal during the period under review.

Part I

BASIS OF INVITATIONS TO PARTICIPATE

NOTE

Part I includes all instances in which proposals to extend invitations to participate in the discussion were put forward in the Council. The types and varieties of practice to which the Council had recourse in connection with the extension of invitations are dealt with in three sections: section B, on invitations to representatives of United Nations organs or subsidiary organs;<sup>1</sup> section C, on invitations to Members of the United Nations;<sup>2</sup> and section D, on other invitations.<sup>3</sup>

During the period under review, no special problems arose regarding requests by Member States to be invited to participate in the proceedings of the Council. Invitations to Member States submitting matters to the Council in accordance with Article 35, paragraph 1, as well as invitations under Article 31 to Members of the United Nations to participate in the discussion of a question when their interests were considered specially affected, were extended as a matter of course and without any discussion. Such requests for invitations are addressed to the President of the Council by letter and he informs the Council in the course of a meeting of the receipt of such letters, proposing that in the absence of objection the invitations be extended accordingly.

Invitations falling under the above two categories are recorded in tabular form in sections C.1(a) and C.2(a). These tabulations are chronologically arranged to provide information on the following points: (a) the question; (b) the States invited; (c) the basis of the invitation; and (d) the decisions of the Council.

Section D.1 contains a tabulation of invitations extended expressly under Article 32; section D.2 contains a tabulation of invitations under rule 39 of the provisional rules of procedure that were extended expressly under that rule and without any discussion; and section D.3 contains a tabulation of invitations not expressly under Article 32 or rule 39. Section D.4 relates to invitations denied.

B. IN THE CASE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF UNITED NATIONS ORGANS OR SUBSIDIARY ORGANS

For the period under review, all invitations to representatives of United Nations organs or subsidiary organs were extended as a matter of course and without any discussion. The letters of request were read into the record of the meeting by the President of the Council and were not issued as S/ documents. These cases have been recorded below in tabular form and are chronologically arranged to provide information on (a) the question; (b) United Nations organs or subsidiary organs invited; (c) request for invitation; and (d) decision of the Council.

4. Invitations denied

During the period under review, there was one case<sup>5</sup> where an invitation to participate was denied.

CASE I

At the 2267th meeting, on 21 April 1981, the President of the Council drew attention to a proposal of the representatives of France, the United Kingdom and the United States for the participation under rule 39 of the provisional rules of procedure of Mr. Peter Kalangula and his associates in the debate on the situation of Namibia.

In a procedural discussion prior to the vote, Panama, France, Uganda, the United Kingdom, the United States and the Soviet Union presented their views. Japan, the German Democratic Republic, Spain and Ireland expressed their positions after the vote.

The supporters of the invitation suggested that as a matter of principle, all individuals who could provide the Security Council with relevant information should be permitted to speak under rule 39 of the provisional rules of procedure and that all Namibian political parties should be granted equal treatment by the Council.

Those who opposed the invitation argued that since the persons to be invited were precisely those whose credentials had been directly refuted in resolution 439 (1978), their participation in the Council's deliberations would be tantamount to violating the Council's own decisions.

The proposal of the representatives of France, the United Kingdom and the United States to invite Mr. Kalangula and his associates to the Council table was rejected by six votes to nine.<sup>6</sup>

**Part II

CONSIDERATION OF THE TERMS AND PROVISIONS OF ARTICLE 32 OF THE CHARTER

Part III

PROCEDURES RELATING TO PARTICIPATION OF INVITED REPRESENTATIVES

NOTE

Part III is concerned with procedures relating to the participation of invited representatives after an invitation was extended and comprises material on participation by Members and non-Members of the United Nations.

No question arose during the period under review concerning either the stage at which invited States might be heard (sect. A), or the duration of participation of invited representatives (sect. B). The practice was generally maintained whereby the President, when consideration of a question was extended over several meetings, renewed the invitation at each consecutive meeting immediately after the adoption of the agenda.<sup>7</sup>

During the period under review, there were no cases involving limitations of a procedural nature affecting invited representatives throughout the process of participation in the proceedings of the Council (sect. C).

No question arose during the period under review concerning limitations connected with aspects of the business of the Council in which it was deemed inappropriate that invited representatives should participate (sect. D).

<sup>5</sup> There was also one case where after consultations no member insisted that an invitation under rule 39 of the provisional rules of procedure be put to a vote. At the 2447th meeting, on 27 May 1983, the President of the Council drew attention to a proposal of the representatives of France, the United Kingdom and the United States that an invitation under rule 39 of the provisional rules of procedure be extended to Mr. L. J. Barnes and Mr. J. G. A. Diergaardt. He stated that he had intended to put that proposal to the vote but that following consultations with the members of the Council, it was his understanding that no member was insisting on a vote. As a result, the two individuals were not invited (2447th mtg.).
