IPDC THE INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMME FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF COMMUNICATION

CI-14/CONF.202/2
15 September 2014

REPORT OF THE INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMME FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF COMMUNICATION (IPDC) ON ITS ACTIVITIES (2012-2014)

OUTLINE

Source: Article 10 of the Statutes of the International Programme for the Development of Communication (IPDC).

Background: This report is submitted to the Intergovernmental Council of the International Programme for the Development of Communication (IPDC) in pursuance of Article 10 of its Statutes adopted at the 21st session, which stipulates that the Director-General shall submit to the Council, at each of its sessions, a report on the implementation of the Programme.

Purpose: The present report covers IPDC's activities during the period between the 28th (2012) and 29th (2014) sessions of the Council. It provides an overview of important decisions and initiatives of the Council, IPDC projects and the financial situation of the Programme.

INTRODUCTION

The International Programme for the Development of Communication (IPDC), which was created in 1980, is the only intergovernmental programme in the UN system mandated to mobilize international support in order to contribute to sustainable development, democracy and good governance by strengthening the capacities of developing countries and countries in transition in the field of electronic and print media. Since its creation, IPDC has channelled about US$ 105 million to over 1700 media development projects in some 140 countries.

Its unique role has been continuously reaffirmed through resolutions adopted by the United Nations General Assembly, including the most recent one Resolution A/RES/68/86 A “Information in the service of humanity”, adopted on 11 December 2013 at the 68th session of the General Assembly, which urges all countries, organizations of the United Nations system and all other stakeholders concerned “to provide full support for the International Programme for the Development of Communication of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, which should support both public and private media.”

28th SESSION OF THE INTERGOVERNMENTAL COUNCIL OF THE IPDC AND THE FOLLOW-UP TO ITS DECISIONS

The 28th session of the Intergovernmental Council of the IPDC was held at UNESCO Headquarters, Paris from 22 to 23 March 2012. (Final Report available at: <http://www.unesco.org/new/en/communication-and-information/intergovernmental-programmes/ipdc/>)

In accordance with the Council’s rules of procedure, a new Bureau of the IPDC Intergovernmental Council was elected. Its composition was as follows:

Chairperson:	Mr Jyrki Pulkkinen (Finland)	Vice-Chairpersons:	Peru Tanzania Thailand
Members:	Albania Algeria United States of America	Rapporteur:	Mr Mikhail Gusman (Russian Federation)

The third Report by the Director-General on the Safety of Journalists and the Danger of Impunity was presented at the Council session. It provided an overview of the 127 killings of journalists condemned by the Director-General during the previous two years. The report noted that in most cases, these journalists were reporting on local conflicts, corruption and other illegal activities, such as organized crime.

The Council adopted the Decision on the Safety of Journalists and the Issue of Impunity, in which it renewed its request to the Director-General to prepare a biennial report on this matter. The Decision commended "the progress of the work of the UN agencies and other stakeholders involved in the preparation of the draft UN Plan of Action on the Safety of Journalists and the Issue of Impunity". The Decision also requested the Director-General to prepare a UNESCO Work Plan on safety and impunity issues, and to present it for adoption at the 191st Session of the Executive Board (which was subsequently carried out, with the Plan adopted). The draft UN Plan of Action on these issues was presented to the Council and was subsequently endorsed by the UN Chief Executives Board in April 2012, as well as welcomed by the UN General Assembly in November 2013.

A thematic debate on “Gender and Media: Getting the Balance Right” was organized at the Council session. The Council heard from invited experts on how to mainstream gender in media and endorsed UNESCO's initiative to develop the Gender-Sensitive Indicators for Media.

The UNESCO-IPDC Prize for Rural Communication was awarded to the Nepal Forum of Environmental Journalists and the Kenyan Arid Lands Information Network.

143 PROJECTS APPROVED FOR FINANCING FROM THE IPDC SPECIAL ACCOUNT

Two annual meetings of the Bureau of the IPDC Council were organized at UNESCO Headquarters in Paris.

- The 57th IPDC Bureau was held from 20 to 22 March 2013. The Bureau approved 63 projects (among 110 considered) for a total amount of US$ 890,340
- The 58th IPDC Bureau was organized from 20 to 21 March 2014. Among 109 projects proposals considered, the IPDC Bureau approved 80 projects for a total amount of US$ 1,397,000.

In 2013-2014, a total of 219 project proposals were thus submitted for the Bureau's consideration by media organizations worldwide. Among the 143 projects approved, 123 were national and 20 were regional projects, benefitting 77 countries in total to which US$ 2,287,340 was channelled. (For the list of approved projects, please see Annex I). The projects approved by the IPDC Bureau in 2013 and 2014 can be broken down by region and country as follows:

FINANCIAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE IPDC

In accordance with IPDC's procedures, the Bureau allocates funds to projects only on the basis of financial resources already available at the moment of its proceedings. This practice helps to avoid any deficit in the IPDC budget and to proceed with the launching of the projects immediately after the Bureau's meeting. During the period 2012-2013, a total of US$ 2,331,934 was received from 8 donor countries which was used for the financing of the 143 projects approved in 2013-2014.

• SUPPORT TO ACTIVITIES RELATED TO THE UNESCO/IPDC JOURNALISTS' SAFETY INDICATORS (58th Bureau meeting).	US$ 20,000

A summary of other IPDC initiatives follows below. Further detail on these is provided in additional documents prepared for the Council meeting.

APPLICATION OF THE UNESCO/IPDC MEDIA DEVELOPMENT INDICATORS

The scope of the Media Development Indicators (MDI) initiative is steadily increasing. Designed to enable in-depth assessments of national media landscapes using a commonly agreed upon framework, the MDIs have to date been applied by UNESCO in 12 countries, with assessments ongoing in another 19 countries. The most recent assessment reports to have been published are those of Palestine, Nepal, Gabon, Egypt and Tunisia.

Some of the key features of the MDI assessment process are that it is nationally-driven, participatory, gender-sensitive and inclusive. It is based on a combination of research methods including wide-ranging consultations, review of third-party reports, legal analysis, focus groups and surveys. Efforts have been made this biennium to systematically ensure the training of national research teams at the outset of the projects in view of reinforcing the capacity building element of the exercise. The MDI assessment process contributes not only to building media research capacities but also to providing media stakeholders, through the national consultations, with a better understanding of the environment in which they operate and how it relates to international standards. A regional training workshop targeting senior media experts from the Arab region was organized in Jordan in March 2014 to develop a pool of potential partners for MDI assessments planned in the Arab states.

Increased emphasis has also been placed on the follow-up of the assessments, i.e. generating attention and debate among stakeholders and policy makers after the assessment process, promoting resource mobilization in key areas of media development and triggering responses to the identified needs.

JOURNALISM SAFETY INDICATORS

As part of its mandate to coordinate the implementation of the UN Plan of Action on the Safety of Journalists and the Issue of Impunity, as well as the UNESCO Work Plan on the Safety of Journalists and the Issue of Impunity, the Journalists' Safety Indicators (JSIs) were developed in 2013 to help assess the extent to which journalists are able to exercise their work under safe conditions, and to identify actions that are taken by the various relevant stakeholders in promoting journalists' safety and fighting impunity at national level. The JSIs were developed and applied in pilot countries with a grant from the IPDC Bureau, in an open process that included input from major organizations dealing with safety internationally (including IMS, INSI, CPJ, RSF, ARTICLE 19, WAN-IFRA as well as regional groups), and were also canvassed at a workshop dedicated to this initiative at the World Press Freedom Day Celebrations in Costa Rica on 2 – 4 May 2013.

The pilot assessments based on the JSIs are currently taking place in Guatemala, Honduras and Pakistan, and the finalised JSIs will be available for application in other countries interested in application of the tool. It is expected that the JSI assessments can serve as a factual baseline for monitoring progress in the implementation of the UN Plan of Action on the Safety of Journalists and the Issue of Impunity.

GLOBAL INITIATIVE FOR EXCELLENCE IN JOURNALISM EDUCATION

The Initiative builds upon the Potential Centres of Excellence/Reference in Journalism Education in Africa project – a special initiative of the IPDC which concluded in 2013. In the last one year and half, several activities have been carried out, many of them reflecting the IPDC Bureau's concern to better promote journalism education in terms of globally shared excellence in teaching, practicing and researching journalism. The Global Initiative has a strategic partnership with Orbicom – the Montreal-based network of UNESCO chairs in communication – to involve at least 4 African schools of journalism to Orbicom's annual meeting scheduled from 6 to 7 November 2014 in Bordeaux, France.. Furthermore, through this Initiative, the IPDC has initiated discussions with the Communication University of China (CUC).

KNOWLEDGE-DRIVEN MEDIA DEVELOPMENT (KDMD) INITIATIVE

Within the framework of the Knowledge-Driven Media Development (KDMD) Initiative, the IPDC has played a key role in leveraging knowledge gained from IPDC's media support to advocate for the inclusion of free, independent and pluralistic media in the post-2015 development agenda. This follows Resolution 64 at the 37th UNESCO General Conference in 2013, which recommended "that the importance of promoting freedom of expression and universal access to knowledge and its preservation - including, among others, through free, pluralistic and independent media, both offline and online – as indispensable elements for flourishing democracies and to foster citizen participation be reflected in the post-2015 development agenda.”

As part of this process, the IPDC Secretariat prepared a number of papers on why freedom of expression deserves to be at the heart of a post-2015 development agenda, and has contributed to this theme being reflected in both the 2014 World Press Freedom Day Paris Declaration and the Bali Road Map. Both these latter documents have been brought to the attention of the UN Secretary General by the UNESCO Director-General.

Further work in this area has seen UNESCO co-convene with the Global Forum for Media Development (GFMD) – a body representing over 200 media development actors – a meeting in Washington DC aimed at refining the targets as well as developing possible indicators for the goals proposed by the UN Open Working Group (OWG). The outcome of this work was subsequently shared with UN Member States in New York and the co-chairs of the OWG prior to their 12th and 13th sessions. The Secretariat has also made contact with Dr Amina Mohammed, the Special Advisor of the UN Secretary-General on Post-2015 Development Planning, to brief her on the importance of media freedom, pluralism and independence as a key plank of the post-2015 consultative process. The message has also been at the centre of our arguments in many fora including NetMundial, WSIS+10, and the Internet Governance Forum. A research project is being elaborated with the Council of Europe and other actors in terms of tracking the safety of journalists as an indicator of development and democracy. As the outcome statement of the OWG only reflects these ideas indirectly in its Goal 16, the IPDC will continue to monitor and contribute to the debate.
