The UNESCO/KOICA Joint Fellowship Programme focuses on providing capacity-building training for teachers and educators from African and Asian-Pacific region under four main themes of teacher training for basic education, use of ICT for education, leadership in global education and girls' education. During the Programme, these four themes will be covered by two modules, 1) Policies and Practices for Educational Development and 2) Global Citizenship Education.

First module, “Policies and Practices for Educational Development” will focus on providing the participants with basic knowledge on educational development reflective of the Korean experience. Comprised of lectures, workshops and study visits to relevant institutions, participants will be enriched with knowledge spanning from policies of different sectors of education to various strategies and skills useful in classroom settings. Several visits to primary and secondary schools as well as teacher education institutes will also be made for the participants to observe the actual learning occurring at Korean schools.

Taking a step forward from the first module, the second module pivots towards Global Citizenship Education (GCED) as a transformative education initiatives that equips the learners with necessary skills and knowledge for implementation of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Focusing especially on global citizenship education which is reflected in the Target 4.7 of SDGs, “By 2030, ensure that all learners acquire the knowledge and skills needed to promote sustainable development, including, among others, through education for sustainable development and sustainable lifestyles, human rights, gender equality, promotion of a culture of peace and non-violence, global citizenship and appreciation of cultural diversity and of culture’s contribution to sustainable development.”, this module will provide various workshops and participatory sessions where the participants will be introduced to the concept and different themes of GCED. They will further learn about how to integrate such concepts in their school, institutions and community through in-depth training focusing on practical application of GCED.

The Programme will also include a series of workshop on action plan development during which the participants will learn about the process of devising an action plan and complete two action plans as a final outcome of the Programme. After identifying a prominent education issue or case situation in their home countries, the participants will choose an issue for each module under consultation with APCEIU and carry out individual study on the topic. They will work with their colleague participants and experts to draft a plan relevant to the educational context of each participant’s country, and come up with one action plan for each module. The action plans will serve as the final outcome of the two-month training programme to be shared with UNESCO and KOICA.

Furthermore, special sessions are planned where participants will take part in roundtable discussions and joint workshops with Korean educators, ICT training sessions, and international conference on GCED. The participants will also make visits to historical and cultural sites in Korea as well as participate in a home-visiting program to immerse themselves into the Korean culture.
