

ACT OF THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA

NUMBER 20, YEAR 2003

ON

NATIONAL EDUCATION SYSTEM*

* The English version of the Act as published originally in Bahasa Indonesia in the National Gazette Number 78 Year 2003. The original text of this Act in Bahasa Indonesia is the authentic version.

FOREWORD

The Government of Indonesia made political commitments at the World Education Forum (April 2000), along with other Governments and organizations, for achieving basic education for all. In this broader context, national level reflections were engaged for developing a new vision of education, as part of the reform in Indonesia, which emphasize the implementation of the principles of democracy, autonomy, decentralization, and public accountability. The reforms in education system have given prominence to enhance its performance in the framework of even distribution of educational opportunities. This reform process has fundamental impact on national education system and its mission to meet various challenges in the present day world.

Guided by the mission of education and educational strategies, the Republic of Indonesia enacted a new Law on National Education System in July 2003, resulting from national wide consultation. The Law has its foundations in the 1945 Constitution of Indonesia, Article 31, Section (1), of which states that each and every citizen shall have the fundamental right to education. The Law creates a legal framework for the major educational goal, policies and plans. The key targets include the expansion and equity, the improvement of quality and relevance, and the implementation of autonomy in higher education. The Law seeks to open access to education at all levels and all forms-formal, non-formal, as well as informal-for all the citizens of Indonesia. Its main thrust is to make education relevant to societal needs; to develop further community-based education; and to enhance participation by community in supporting basic education. It provides rights and obligations of citizens, parents, community, and Government.

An outstanding feature of the Law is the implementation of compulsory basic education, free of cost, for all Indonesian citizens. Henceforth, "Every seven to fifteen years old citizen shall have the right to receive basic education", as the Law provides. This is a major step towards creating a critical mass in the area of education for national development, as recognized in the National Plan of Action:

Indonesia's Education For All (2002). Its realization has become a primary responsibility for all education providers. This indeed deserves to be highlighted.

In adopting the new legislation, the Government of Indonesia has been fully conscious of the need for creating equality of opportunity in education and to ensure that basic education is made available to all, including those belonging to economically disadvantaged or socially marginalized groups, and those living in remote areas. To that end, the Law reflects certain fundamental principles, notably universal access to basic education without gender bias, non-discrimination, equality of opportunity, and equity in education. National experience shows that the expansion of equity and equality of educational opportunities has not gone hand in hand with the quality improvement. The Law aims at making a good quality education available to all. Its basic purpose is to develop a national educational system to achieve the Education for All goals, to create opportunities for lifelong learning, etc. in today's knowledge society.

The Law sets forth aims and functions of education, and national standards and the principles of the education system. It applies to all educational institutions that exist or may be created in the Republic of Indonesia. Its underlying philosophy is that education is a national movement in order that different stakeholders participate in the development of education as a life-long process. As such, the Law recognizes active partnership with local government and other local authorities in the process of education decentralization.

One of the main purposes of the Law is to inculcate in young minds the respect for human rights, for cultural pluralism and learning to live together, promote morals and character building as well as unity in diversity (Bhinneka Tunggal Eka) in the spirit of brotherhood and solidarity.

The Government recognizes the importance of education as an investment in human capital formation that lays the foundation for future economic growth and development in Indonesia. In that spirit, the Law provides, in compliance with constitutional amendment of 2002 that 20 percent national budget shall be allocated for education. The Government has thus taken a major decision. Keeping in mind that due to the economic crisis, the resources available for the implementation of universal basic education are limited, the role of the community and parents for the completion of 9-year basic education program is becoming critically important. However, financing of basic education for all shall be primarily the responsibility of the Government.

The Government of Indonesia has immensely benefited from the technical assistance provided by UNESCO for the elaboration of the new Law. It has, thus, been possible to incorporate into the national legislation fundamental principles and norms in the field of the right to education, promoted by UNESCO and United Nation system.

The Ministry of National Education has planned and is carrying out a series of socialization and awareness-raising campaigns throughout the country so that the Law is made widely known. The tripartite government-community-parent cooperation for implementing the new Law needs to be strengthened. Giving shape to the principle of equity as well as empowering role of education for social development is a challenging task in the implementation process.

EXPLANATION TO ACT OF THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA
NUMBER 20 YEAR 2003
ON

I. GENERAL

Education is essential for all human beings. It is an effort for realizing their potentials through learning and/or other education activities which are socially recognizable. The 1945 Constitution, Article 31, Verse (1) states that every Indonesian citizen shall have the right to education. Verse (3) also states that the Government is responsible for the provision of a single national education system. Such a system would enable individuals to become faithful and pious to God and to possess morals and noble character, such that augments intellectual capacity and promotes character building, that is stipulated by an Act. For this purpose, the nation as a whole shall engage in intellectual capacity and character building as one of the goals of the Republic of Indonesia.

The reform movements in Indonesia in general require the implementation of principles of democracy, decentralization, justice, as well as respect for human rights in the spirit, which characterizes both the nation and the State. In relation to education, these principles shall have fundamental impact on the contents, processes, and management of the national education. Furthermore, science and technology have developed rapidly and have brought about new demands in all aspects of life, including a new system of education. These demands call for reforms in the education system, inter alia, curriculum reform, that is, diversification of curriculum in order to serve diverse students and local potentials; diversification of types of education conducted professionally, setting of graduated standards nationally and locally based on the needs; setting of minimum qualification for teachers to meet the professional requirements for teaching, setting the standard unit costs for each education unit based on the principles of equity and equality, the implementation of school-based management and autonomy of higher education, and provision of open and polyvalence education system. Reforms in education system also include the removal of discrimination in education organized by the Government and education organized by community, and the distinction between religious education and general education.

The reforms in education system are intended to renew vision, missions and a strategy of the national education. National education has a vision for bringing into being the education system as a strong and respected social institution to empower all citizens of Indonesia to become enlightened human beings who are able to keep abreast of the challenges of the time.

With such a vision of education, national education shall have missions as follows:

- 1. To strive for the broadening and even distribution of opportunities for quality education for all Indonesian citizens;*
- 2. To assist and facilitate the development of their potentials, from early childhood throughout life, in order to bring into being a learning society;*
- 3. To improve quality of educational inputs and process to optimize the formation of moral character building;*
- 4. To enhance the professionalism and accountability of educational institutions as centers for acculturation of sciences, skills, experiences, attitudes, and values based on national and global standards; and*
- 5. To empower community participation in the provision of education, based on the principles of autonomy in the context of the unity of the Republic of Indonesia.*

Based on the foregoing vision and missions of the national education system, national education shall function to develop ability and character as well as the dignity of the civilization of the nation in order to enhance its intellectual life. National education system aims at developing learners' potential so that they become faithful and pious to the Almighty God, possessing morals and noble characters, be healthy, knowledgeable, skillful, independent, and become Indonesian citizens who are democratic and responsible.

The reform of the education system requires specific strategies. The strategies of the educational development in this Act include:

- 1. The implementation of religious education to foster morals and noble character;*
- 2. The development and implementation of the competency-based curriculum;*
- 3. The teaching and learning process which is inter-active and educational;*
- 4. The reinforcement of the national education system by educational evaluation, accreditation and certification;*
- 5. The enhancement of quality educational personnel;*
- 6. The provision of quality educational facilities;*
- 7. The provision of educational funding based on principles of equality and equity;*
- 8. The provision of open education and equality in education;*
- 9. The implementation of compulsory basic education;*
- 10. The implementation of autonomous management of education;*
- 11. The empowerment of community roles;*
- 12. The center of community empowerment and development; and*
- 13. The implementation of the monitoring activities in national education system.*

With these strategies, it is expected that the vision, missions, and objectives of national education can be effectively realized by involving various stakeholders actively in the implementation of education.

Education reforms should also take into account the implementation of regional autonomy as mandated by the Republic of Indonesia, Act Number 22, Year 1999, on Regional Governance and the Act Number 25, Year 1999, on Balance of the Budget Allocation between the Central and Regional Government.

In view of the above, the Republic of Indonesia, Act Number 2, Year 1989, on National Education System needs to be renewed and replaced.
