

News submitted by: Mr. YANG Wenming, UNEVOC Centre Coordinator at Shenzhen Polytechnic (People's Republic of China)

Date: 05/11/2018

Chinese UNEVOC Centres organise a seminar on Higher education

On November 1st, the 20th Cross-Strait Applied Higher Education (TVET) Seminar 2018 was held in UNEVOC Centre at Shenzhen Polytechnic. The seminar was jointly initiated by Shenzhen Polytechnic, Shanghai Polytechnic University, National Taipei University of Technology, Beijing United University, and sponsored by Shenzhen Polytechnic.

The theme of this seminar was "The Reform of Applied Higher Education in the Intelligent Age". More than 200 experts, scholars and students from 28 universities across the Taiwan Strait, Hong Kong and Macao have gathered in Shenzhen Polytechnic to exchange ideas and learn from each other. Guests from Hong Kong and Macao was invited for the first time in this year's seminar, in order to promote the coordinated development of the Great Bay Area(covering Guangdong province, Hong Kong, Macao) and enhance the exchange and cooperation of Applied Higher Education among the two sides of the Taiwan Strait ,Hong Kong and Macao.

