

Mobile Learning Week 2019

4-8 March 2019

Paris, France

Strategy Labs

Title of the Strategy Lab:	Using AI to support teachers and teacher development
Date:	8 March 2019
Name of organizer/presenter:	Organizer: Inès da Silva Presenters: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Professor Hamdy Abdelaziz,• Dr George Saltsman,• Dr Nicky Mohan,• Mr Bijay Dhungana
Time allotted:	2 hours 30 minutes
About the Strategy Lab:	The International Task Force on Teachers for Education 2030 is inviting experts from its network to come discuss their experience on the use of Artificial Intelligence to support teachers and teacher development. Drawing on their experience, the Strategy Lab will focus on the practical role Artificial Intelligence can play in addressing the challenges faced by teachers
Objectives of the Strategy Lab:	Be a springboard to discuss needs and to encourage appropriate use of AI to support the challenges faced by teachers and teacher development in the 21st Century
Logistics to be used during the Strategy Lab:	Computer + Projector and screen Microphones

Mobile Learning Week 2019

4-8 March 2019

Paris, France

Activity layout:

Introduction: Ms Inès da Silva (5 min)

Part 1: What current use of AI is feasible for developing teacher training capacity for primary and secondary education? How will it address the shortage of teachers today? (Led by Professor Hamdy Abdelaziz - 40 min)

Part 2: What technological means are available to quantify the feasibility of introducing AI in supporting teachers and teacher development? (Led by Dr George Saltsman – 40 min)

Part 3: Ethical and moral considerations of AI to support teachers and teacher development. (Led by Dr Nicky Mohan – 40 min)

Mr Bijay Dhungana will be moderator and lead closing discussion and Q&A – 25 min