To whom it may concern,

Turath has been supporter of Egyptian craftsmen (and women) for over ten years. One of our main goals is to maintain Egypt's heritage through its many handicrafts.

Over the past five years, we have witnessed an increased deterioration in the quality of tally embroidery, both in design and precision of workmanship, as well in raw material used.

For this reason, I see a great need to create a system for capacity building and quality control in order to preserve this special technique and prevent it from further deterioration. It is a necessity on the path to protecting Egypt's valuable and irreplaceable heritage.

With sincere and much hope that such a program could be developed and applied soon.

Best regards,

Elvira Guindi

To: Dr. Tim Curtis
Secretary, Convention for the safeguarding of the Intangible
Cultural Heritage of UNESCO

The Egyptian Society for Folk Traditions (ESFT) is proposing to UNESCO for assistance from the Intangible Cultural Heritage Fund to undertake a training and capacity building program in the Governorate of Sohag to safeguard the traditional craft of tally.

The National Council for Women (NCW) and ESFT were the two partners who implemented the UNESCO project for identifying, documenting and safeguarding this women craft from extension by training 380 women to practice the craft.

Now we are renewing our partnership to salvage the craft, for which a proposal is presented to ICH. We are very much in favor for and approve that ESFT undertake this project.

Furthermore ESFT requests that NCW will be involved in any women developmental program and ESFT is ready to undertake and assist in any capacity.

With me best regards,

Yours Sincerely,

Dr. Maya Morsy

To whom it May concern

The project of documentation and development of the art of Tally in the village of Shandawil Island in Sohag Governorate started in 2005 under the auspices of the Egyptian Society for Folk Traditions (ESFT) and the National Council for Women (NCW). I was one of twelve girls who were selected with experience in this art. We received extensive training to train girls and other women. and to collect basic information about these trainees and to training them.

I would like to express my happiness and my thanks on behalf of the artists of Tally who are still working on the continuation of this art to participate in its listing on UNESCO's Urgent Safeguarding lists under the supervision of the State and the Egyptian Society for Folk Traditions.

إلى من يهمه الأمر

بدأ مشروع توثيق وتنمية فن التلي في قرية شندويل بمحافظة سوهاج عام ٢٠٠٥ برعاية الجمعية المصرية للمأثورات الشعبية والمجلس القومي للمرأة ودعم من اليونسكو، كنت واحدة من اثنتي عشرة فتاة تم اختيارهن ممن لهن خبرة بهذا الفن. وحصلنا على تدريب مكثف لكي ندرّب الفتيات والنساء الأخريات ولكي نجمع المعلومات الأساسية عن هؤلاء المتدربات.

وأنا أعبر عن سعادتي وموافقتي بالنيابة عن الفنانات اللاتي مازلن يعملن على استمرار هذا الفن على المشاركة في تسجيله على قوائم اليونسكو بإشراف الجمعية المصرية للمأثورات الشعبية، مع العلم بأننا مازلنا ندرّب فتيات أخريات ونتنّج التلي تحت إشراف الجمعية.
