

United Nations
Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization

International Day of Women and Girls in Science

With a roundtable discussion on
How to close the gender gap in science?

Tuesday, 11 February 2020

UNESCO Headquarters, 7 Place de Fontenoy, Paris
Room IX

With the participation of the International Science Council

11
Feb
2020

Programme

9:30-10:00	Registration and welcome coffee
10:00-10:15	Opening remarks by Shamila Nair-Bedouelle, Assistant Director-General for Natural Sciences, UNESCO
10:15-10:45	Keynote speech “Some aspects of research on the gender gap in science by social scientists”, Catherine Jami, CNRS
10:45-12:15	Round Table discussion on “How to close the gender gap in science?” moderated by Heide Hackmann, CEO, International Science Council, with: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Lingadahalli Subrahmanya Shashidhara (India) President, International Union of Biological Sciences (IUBS)• Vivian Etsiapa Boamah (Ghana) – Senior Lecturer, Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, Kumasi (KNUST), and fellow of the L’Oréal-UNESCO For Women in Science Sub-Saharan Africa Programme• Dragana Ilic (Serbia), Associated Professor, Department of Astronomy, Faculty of Mathematics, University of Belgrade. Fellow of the L’Oréal-UNESCO For Women in Science Serbia Programme• Gloria Bonder (Argentina) – Coordinator, UNESCO Regional Chair on Women, Science and Technology in Latin America
12:15–12:30	Conclusions
12:30-14:00	Cocktail

Registration :

<https://en.unesco.org/feedback/registration-11-february-2020>