Opening of the 57th IPDC Bureau Meeting

Item 1 – Adoption of the agenda

The IPDC Chairman, Mr Jyrki Pulkkinen of Finland, declared open the 57th meeting of the IPDC Bureau and briefly outlined the new streamlined process for project selection. He thanked the Bureau members for the excellent work carried out in advance of the meeting, which involved scrutinizing and ranking the project proposals. In the absence of objections, the agenda was formally adopted.

Item 2 – Opening remarks delivered by Mr Jānis Kārklīņš, Representative of the Director-General of UNESCO and Assistant Director-General for Communication and Information

Mr Karklins welcomed the participants to the meeting and delivered his opening remarks. He emphasized the evolving scope of the Programme and highlighted two recent areas in which efforts have been particularly focused, namely: promoting the safety of journalists, in particular by reinforcing UN system-wide coordination in this area; and secondly, assessing national media landscapes through the application of the IPDC Council-endorsed Media Development Indicators.

A brief update was given on the work being carried out in these respective areas, mentioning the organization of a second UN-Inter Agency Meeting, the recent publishing of a Strategy for the implementation of the United Nations Action Plan on the Safety of Journalists and the Issue of Impunity in 2013-2014, and the continued monitoring of the status of judicial enquiries conducted by Member States on the killings of journalists condemned by UNESCO's Director-General. Bureau members were informed that a new report on this issue will be presented on behalf of the Director-General at the next General Conference in November 2013 and at the next IPDC Council session in 2014.

As regards the application of the UNESCO/IPDC Media Development Indicators, the Bureau members were informed that new assessments had been completed or were in their final stages in Egypt, Gabon, Nepal and Tunisia, with ongoing assessments in a further 12 countries, including a regional project in South-East Europe. Mr Karklins notified the Bureau that the IPDC Secretariat is actively engaged in further strengthening the MDI initiative, paying particular attention to assuring quality in the MDI applications and placing an increased emphasis on follow-up activities.

Bureau members' attention was drawn to the worrying situation regarding the IPDC's funding, with the Programme's reliance on voluntary contributions from Member States being underlined. Actions taken by the Secretariat to address this decline in funding were outlined, including the elaboration of a fundraising strategy and the holding of an informal consultation meeting involving donors and potential donors, convened by the IPDC Chair in June 2012.

Gratitude was expressed to the countries that had provided funds to the IPDC in the last year, namely Andorra, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, the Netherlands, Norway and Spain, and an appeal was made for renewed support to help ensure that the Programme has the necessary resources to carry out its mandate and remain at the forefront of international media development efforts.

The Bureau members were briefed on some of the highlights of the CI Sector's work over the past year bearing particular relevance to IPDC. These included the initiation of talks on improved information generation and knowledge sharing in international fora as well as the hosting of the successful WSIS+10 Review Meeting and the second celebration of World Radio Day.

Item 3 – Report by the Chairperson

Mr Pulkkinen outlined the main activities carried out in his capacity as IPDC Chair since being elected at the 28th IPDC Council meeting in March, 2012. These included participating in the WSIS+10 conference, conducting informal consultations with Member States in June, 2012, as part of follow-up to the IPDC Council meeting, as well as individual meetings held with donors and potential donors (involving the delegations of Brazil, Canada, Czech Republic, Finland, Germany, Netherland, Nigeria, Peru, Poland, Tanzania and Thailand). He also announced that an additional contribution from Finland of 200 000 Euros would be forthcoming, (doubling the total amount to be contributed by Finland for 2013).

Before moving on to the following agenda item (Selection of IPDC Projects), the Chair briefly recapped the new streamlined process for this task and reminded the Bureau members of the main criteria guiding their decisions. Aside from assessing whether a project adequately addresses at least one of the IPDC's four current priorities, he asked that consideration be given to whether the project is well motivated and addresses a real need, whether it is innovative and can generate replicable knowledge, and also if it is credible and has a cost-effective budget in terms of producing optimum results. Finally, he reminded Bureau members that proposals are expected to demonstrate gender-sensitivity and/or independence.

Item 4 – IPDC financial situation (doc ref. CI-13/CONF.201/4)

IPDC Secretary, Mr Guy Berger, gave the Bureau members an overview of the financial situation of the Programme.

Item 5 – Examination of projects submitted to the 57th IPDC Bureau

See Appendix 1: Decisions of the 57th Bureau meeting of the IPDC

Discussion of revised project selection process

Bureau members expressed widespread approval of the revised process for selecting projects and congratulated the Chair on his initiative to propose the new procedure. The Secretariat was encouraged to continue its work to further refine the selection process, for example by providing greater detail in its recommendations, where appropriate. The Chair voiced satisfaction at the outcomes of the deliberations and reiterated his thanks to the Bureau members for their work.

Item 6 – Examination of strategic documents aimed at Strengthening the Role of IPDC

Strengthening the role of the IPDC for the period 2014-2021 (doc ref. CI-13/CONF.201/6)

An introduction was given by the IPDC Secretary, followed by discussion among Bureau members. The actions proposed in Section 8 of the abovementioned document were approved with amendments. The decisions taken were as follows:

- The Bureau recognized the IPDC ambition to stretch itself during the period 2014-2021 in order to achieve the following Expected Results: widest possible knowledge and ownership of the Programme; global respect for IPDC's visible efficiency and effectivity in delivery of media development projects (involving steps to adapt the Programme's operational systems and parameters in line with the evolving trends in news media); widespread recognition of IPDC's status as a global leader in knowledge about media development
- The Bureau did not wish to suggest to Council an amendment of the statutes regarding existing IPDC structures and processes (i.e. the composition of governing bodies).
- It was decided that the 2014 Bureau meeting should deliberate on wording of a revised mission statement for the IPDC which will reflect the changing media context and the forthcoming C4 medium-term strategy for UNESCO.
- The Bureau endorsed the proposed streamlined priorities, criteria and amounts referred to in Section 4.1 of document CI-13/CONF.201/6 as regards future projects being considered for IPDC support.
- The Bureau reaffirmed its support to the Special Initiatives on the Safety of Journalists and the Media Development Indicators, and approved the proposal to conclude Centres of Excellence in Journalism Education as a Special Initiative of the IPDC.

- The incorporation of Knowledge-Driven Media Development was approved as a new Special Initiative.
- A special allocation of US$ 35,000 was made for the development and application of a set of indicators for measuring the safety of journalists, as an add-on to the Media Development Indicators (MDIs) (Development: US$ 10,000 / Application: US$ 25,000).

Strengthening IPDC's Media Development Indicators initiative (ref. CI-13/CONF.201/12)

A presentation on the IPDC's Media Development Indicators (MDI) was given by Ms Saorla McCabe, Assistant Programme Specialist within the IPDC Secretariat and focal point for the MDI initiative. She reminded the Bureau of the background to the tool, which was endorsed in March 2008 by the IPDC Council and serves as a diagnostic tool for stakeholders to evaluate national media landscapes and determine areas in which intervention is most needed. Ms McCabe spoke of the current challenges being faced by the Initiative which need to be addressed (particularly the need for human and financial resources) and outlined the efforts being undertaken by the Secretariat to further strengthen the MDI initiative. These include activities focused on quality assurance and improving the follow-up to MDI assessments, as well as measures to revise the tool and increase its visibility so as to enable the research findings generated to attract attention among key stakeholders and policy makers and contribute to catalyzing responses to objectively-identified priorities in media development.

Towards a Knowledge-Driven Media Development agenda for IPDC (presentation only)

Mr Fackson Banda, the Programme Specialist responsible for developing IPDC's work in relation to Knowledge-driven Media Development (KDMD), delivered a short presentation on the important role of the IPDC in relation to knowledge development and information circulation. He emphasized that the large numbers of projects funded by the IPDC each year provide scope for the Programme to be conceptualized within a wider learning cycle and results-based management system, and in this light, he drew attention to the importance of assessing the capacity of each project to serve as a pilot in producing results which, upon analysis, can generate knowledge and ultimately enhance future project selection and learning, in a cyclical nature. In order to develop this aspect of the Programme and realize its potential to become a global leader in transparency and the sharing of information about media development, Mr Banda underlined the importance of taking maximum advantage of the lessons learned from the development and implementation of IPDC projects, by drawing upon implementation, evaluation and overview reports as valuable sources of information. He identified the enhancement of the IPDC database as an important initial step, as well as the need to enlist the support and involvement of key actors, including the World Bank and academic partners such as ORBICOM.

IPDC Fundraising Strategy (doc ref. CI-13/CONF.201/7)

A brief introduction was provided by IPDC Programme Specialist, Mr Valeri Nikolski. The fundraising strategy was agreed upon by the Bureau, including the proposal to incorporate a "rapid response" mechanism for decisions to be taken between Bureau meetings concerning eventual Funds-in-Trust projects. The Bureau resolved to assist in fundraising efforts wherever possible and appropriate, and encouraged the Secretariat to pursue the fundraising strategy.

Communication & Visibility for the IPDC (doc ref. CI-13/CONF.201/8)

The Bureau took note of the above document and suggested that a single overarching Key Message be determined in order to sharpen its focus. Further comments included refining the Indicators of Achievement. The Bureau members recognized the need to adopt a programmatic approach and acknowledged its key role in complimenting the work of UNESCO staff in order to achieve the due recognition which the IPDC merits across the range of significant stakeholders.

Transforming the UNESCO-IPDC Prize (doc ref. CI-13/CONF.201/10)

The Bureau members considered the proposal to rename the UNESCO-IPDC Prize for Rural Communication as the UNESCO-IPDC World Radio Day Prize. The decision was taken to return to the discussion on this subject at the next IPDC Bureau meeting in 2014, in order to finalize the proposal for consideration to the Council session in November 2014.

Thematic debates for the 29th Council session (ref. CI-13/CONF.201/11)

The Bureau agreed on the topic of 'Online privacy and freedom of expression' for the thematic debate at the 29th Council Session, and agreed that US$ 8,000 be set aside for that purpose from the IPDC Special Account, if necessary.

It was agreed that the following topics be submitted to the 29th IPDC Council for approval as possible topics of the thematic debate at the subsequent (30th) Council session:

- Knowledge-driven Media Development
- Developing standards for principles for ethical leadership in news media institutions (incorporating the issues of media concentration and government advertising)
- Supporting new sustainability models for news media

The IPDC Secretary assured Bureau members that every effort would be made to ensure equal geographic representation at upcoming meetings and debates.

Item 7 – Proposed dates for the 29th Council session (document ref. CI-13/CONF.201/9)

The Bureau members accepted the Secretariat's proposal to amend the dates of the subsequent IPDC meetings in order to regularize the Secretariat's work with regards the Report on the Safety of Journalists, and agreed on the following:

- The 58th Bureau meeting will be held on 20-21 March 2014.
- The 29th IPDC Council session will be held in November 2014 (eventual dates to be proposed for Council Members' approval: 19-21 November 2014).

Item 8 – Closure of the meeting

The Chairman thanked the Members of the Bureau for their valuable contribution to the proceedings and declared the 57th Bureau meeting of the Intergovernmental Council of the IPDC closed.
