Dear UNESCO,

My name is Mrs Nawal Al-Failakawi, and I am the Coordinator of the Traditional Food Competition at the Shaikh Sabah al Ahmad Heritage Village in Salmi, Kuwait.

We invite any person, inside or outside of Kuwait, to participate for free in competing for the title of Best Kuwaiti Dish (in category).

The palm date from the palm tree is a fruit that has been used in Kuwait and the Arabian Peninsula for thousands of years, and it is heavily featured in Kuwaiti cooking.

For example, in the competition, the date fruit has been used in cooking with fish over the grill and with making many desserts. Date fruits are available in every Kuwaiti kitchen, and the uses are endless.

As such, I agree to and support the nomination file from the State of Kuwait of the Palm Tree that is being submitted to the UNESCO Intangible Cultural Heritage Registry.

Best wishes,

Mrs Nawal Al-Failakawi
