About

The second edition of International Day of Education will be celebrated on 24 January 2020, a day to honour education and its centrality to human well-being and sustainable development.

This year's theme around Learning for people, planet, prosperity and peace, highlights the integrated nature of education, its humanistic aims, as well as its centrality to our collective development ambitions.

UNESCO's recently launched Futures of Education initiative has opened its global consultation, asking everyone to join the debate and share how they think learning should be reshaped for the future of humanity and the planet.

GIF on '258m children'

Education is a human right, and yet...

✘ 258 million children and youth are out of school ✘

This HAS to change.

GIF on '671m children'

There is a global education crisis!!

✘ 617 million children & teens cannot read nor do basic math ✘

This HAS to change!

GIF on '40% of girls'

No education = No future.

The equation is simple.

On #EducationDay and every day, stand that for the #RightToEducation!

🤯🤯 SHOCKING! 🤯🤯

In only 45% of countries the constitution guarantees the #RightToEducation without discrimination based on sex or gender. 😞😞😞
