Concept note

The « Culture of peace » concept was first defined in Africa, during the International Congress on «Peace in the Minds of Men», organized by UNESCO in Yamoussoukro, Côte d'Ivoire, in 1989.

According to the definition adopted by the United Nations General Assembly, a Culture of Peace consists “of values, attitudes and behaviors that reflect and inspire social interaction and sharing based on the principles of freedom, justice and democracy, all human rights, tolerance and solidarity, that reject violence and endeavor to prevent conflicts by tackling their root causes to solve problems through dialogue and negotiation and that guarantee the full exercise of all rights and the means to participate fully in the development process of their society”¹.

In Africa, the concept of a Culture of Peace is rooted in the values, belief systems and forms of spirituality, local knowledge and technologies, traditions and forms of cultural and artistic expression that contribute to the respect of human rights, cultural diversity, solidarity and the rejection of violence to build democratic societies.

The idea of launching the Biennale for a Culture of Peace draws its inspiration from the Charter for African Cultural Renaissance², which advocates that culture is the most effective mean for enabling Africa to increase its share of worldwide scientific production and overcome the challenges of globalization.

Moreover, this Biennale is fully in line with the Action Plan for a Culture of Peace in Africa, which was adopted in Luanda (Angola) during the Pan-African Forum «Sources and resources for a Culture of Peace» jointly organized by UNESCO, the African Union and the Angolan Government in March 2013. The Forum allowed, on one hand the launch of a continental and sustainable Movement for a Culture of Peace in Africa, and on the other hand, help to raise awareness and mobilize campaigns at a national level under the African Union campaign “Make Peace Happen”.

Following the adoption of this Action Plan in March 2013, many initiatives have emerged at a continental and national levels in several African countries, including: the creation of the Network of Foundations and Research Institutions for the Promotion of a Culture of Peace in Africa in September 2013 in Addis Ababa; the creation of the Pan-African Youth Network for a Culture of Peace (PAYNCOP) in December 2014 in Libreville and the establishment of the project Pan-African Women’s Network for Culture of Peace with the creation of the first section of this network in Gabon in 2017³. Awareness raising campaigns for the public and youth were launched, during the celebration of September 21, International Day of Peace, in Cameroon, Congo, Gabon, Angola, Sao Tome and Principe, Liberia, Mali, Burundi. In other African countries, numerous projects and initiatives in the field of peace building and global citizenship have been implemented (see Culture of peace Africa Brochure⁴).

1 UN General Assembly Resolution 52/13 of 1998

2 Charter of African Cultural Renaissance, African Union, 24 January 2006

Two years since the deadline for the AU Silencing the Guns Initiative, Africa is still far from achieving this aspiration and the continent stages many conflicts, some new some protracted, that cause devastation and the uprooting of people from their trusted environments.

It is in this context that in January 2015, the 24th session of the African Union Assembly of Head of States and Government adopted the Decision 558/XXIV requesting the African Union Commission to «take all the appropriate measures in consultation with UNESCO and the Government of the Republic of Angola for the organization of the Pan-African Forum for a Culture of Peace, Biennale of Luanda».

During his official visit to France in May 2018, the President of the Republic of Angola, H.E. Mr João Manuel Gonçalves Lourenço, met with the Director-General of UNESCO, Mrs Audrey Azoulay, and reaffirmed Angola's intention to host the “Pan-African Forum for a Culture of Peace, Biennale of Luanda”, in partnership with UNESCO and the African Union. In that regard, an Agreement was signed in December 2018, laying the way for holding the first edition of the Biennale in September 2019.

The Culture of Peace Biennale is a continent-wide event that will contribute directly to the implementation of the Sustainable Development Goal 16 and 17 (Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions / Partnerships) of the United Nations Agenda 2030, and the Aspirations of the African Union Agenda 2063 and in particular the “Agenda for Peace” and “Silencing the Guns by 2020” Flagship Project.

The Biennale is also part of UNESCO's operational strategy for Priority Africa (2014-2021) which aims to provide “African responses to the transformations that affect African economies and societies.”

It will bring together representatives of governments, civil society, the arts, sciences and international organizations, academic institutions and international organizations.

The 2019 and first Biennale of Luanda will be based on three axes:

- Partners Forum: Alliance for Africa : a major opportunity to engage in strategic programmes for Africa through the scaling up of proven initiatives and projects for peace and sustainable development throughout the continent.
- Forum of Ideas - Youth and Women Forums, three platforms for reflection on the future of Africa focusing on disseminating good practices and solutions to the prevention, management and mitigation of conflicts;
- Festival of Cultures aimed at showcasing the cultural diversity of African countries and the African diaspora, demonstrating thereby the resilience of the African people in face of conflict and violence.

3 As part of these networks, numerous international conferences were held in Côte d'Ivoire (Yamoussoukro, 2014), in Angola (Soyo, 2015 and Luena, 2016), Benin (Cotonou, 2015) Gabon (Libreville, 2014 and 2017), Gambia (Banjul, 2016), Nigeria (Abuja, 2017) and Paris on the margins of the 39th General Conference of UNESCO in 2017.

Description of sessions

PARTNERS' FORUM

The Partners' Forum is in line with the implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals of Agenda 2030 and the aspirations of the African Union's Agenda 2063.

The Partners' Forum is the highlight of the 2019 edition of the Biennale of Luanda. It marks the commitment, at the level of nations, of the relevant stakeholders mobilized around a common cause: the future of the African continent.

The diversity of partners underscores the extent of international commitment to peace in Africa. The Forum aims to demonstrate in a tangible manner the crucial importance of consolidating existing partnerships and creating new ones to ensure UNESCO's viability, vitality, visibility and relevance in the 21st century.

UNESCO's programmes offer a range of strong partnership opportunities that bring mutual benefits in areas where the Organization is a leader, thanks to its recognized expertise and comparative advantage.

FORUM OF IDEAS

The Forum of Ideas is a platform for reflection on the future of Africa focusing on the sharing of best practices and innovative solutions.

The Forum of Ideas is mainly dedicated to the theme of “Building and perpetuating peace in Africa: A multi-stakeholder movement». It will consist several thematic sessions focusing on:

- Prevention of Violence and Conflict Resolution through Education and Culture
- Prevention of Conflicts over Natural Resources
- Promoting the Integration of Refugees, Returnees, Displaced Persons and Migrants in Africa
- Global Africa: Exploring African Presence in the World
- The Role of Media in the Promotion of Peace - Free, Independent and Pluralistic Media to Foster Peace and Development in Africa

Prevention of violence and conflict resolution through Education and Culture

The majority of current outbreaks of violence and conflict on the African continent arise within States and are less and less the result of clashes between States.

In this new map of violence and conflict, this session will showcase how UNESCO, in the context of its global priorities, supports countries in their efforts to provide local stakeholders with the knowledge, skills, behaviors and values that support resilience necessary to live and work together. This session will focus on efforts undertaken to face the contemporary challenges including community conflicts, the migrant crisis, and countering religious fundamentalism, among other important issues.

Specifically, the interventions will focus on two axes:

- Educate a generation of African youth as agents for peace, stability and development.
- Harness the power of Creativity and Cultural Heritage – in its numerous facets – to build a sustainable peace in the African continent.

Conflict Prevention over Natural Resources:

The management of natural resources and the prevention of their overexploitation have been difficult when there is free access to these resources. Free access promotes competition and often leads to a devastation of the common goods. In addition, we see also an exponential increase in the demand for natural resources.

This Forum will focus on sharing experiences of successful cooperation and case studies of projects and initiatives of UNESCO’s flagship projects that contribute to conflict prevention in the management of domestic and transboundary natural resources in Africa.

Specifically, the session will highlight UNESCO’s Man and Biosphere Programme and World Heritage Convention and the challenges and opportunities related to the transboundary cooperation for regional integration. In that regard, the focus lies in reinforcing the synergy between conservation and development. The session will provide as well the opportunity of exchanging points of view of keys partners in the political arena (African Union), financial (African Development Bank), research (University of Niamey), site Managers (OIPR, Côte d’Ivoire), UN agencies (Special Envoy Office to the Great Lakes Region) and national partners (Angola).

Leaving no one behind: promoting the integration of refugees, returnees, displaced persons and migrants in Africa

An estimated 68 million people are forcibly displaced worldwide and more than a third of these people are in Africa. This includes as well 6.3 million refugees and asylum-seekers and 14.5 million displaced persons.

In this context, the African Union has chosen 2019's AU Theme as Refugees, Returnees and Internally Displaced Persons: towards Durable Solutions to Forced Displacement in Africa. With this choice, African leaders recognize the need for comprehensive and inclusive responses to major migration trends and their dynamics and challenges on the continent and abroad.

The high scale of the displacement crisis is compounded by the risks of trafficking, human rights violations, lack of adequate humanitarian assistance, sexual and gender-based violence, detention of asylum-seekers, deportation, xenophobia and overall discrimination of refugees.

The session will focus on best practices of countries identified by the African Union that could inspire others in improving their policies in support of refugees, returnees, internally displaced persons and migrants.

Global Africa- Exploring African Presence in the World :

Africa and its Diasporas, have often been presented as distinct groups, separated by oceans that have had only sporadic contacts during brief historical moments. UNESCO, in line with the elaboration of the General History of Africa, seeks to challenge this binary and simplistic perspective of relations between Africa and its Diasporas by introducing the concept of a global Africa. This concept makes it possible to understand the history of relations between Africans and people of African descent as an interconnected and continuous process, including the circulation of people, knowledge, know-how and cultural productions, and whose matrix is the African heritage.

The session will highlight the African influence in the world and the diversity of contributions of people of African descent to modern societies. It will examine the legacy of slavery and colonialism faced by people of African descent and their capacity to resist in the fight against racial prejudice, racism and discrimination. This thematic session will also focus on how the African diaspora participates in the development of the continent, and how they are a key actor to contribute to the Culture of Peace.

The session will as such enable to:

- Explore the ties that bind Africa and its diaspora around the Globe.
- Exchange of best practices for the support African diaspora, and how they in turn partake in the development of the continent

Free, independent and pluralistic media to foster peace and development in Africa

The media has a crucial role to play in promoting peace, justice and sustainable development throughout the world and as such also in the African continent. A dynamic, free, independent and pluralistic media landscape ensures that citizen's access to quality and unbiased information, encouraging people to express their opinions and promoting therefore greater political participation.

The media also serve as an accountability mechanism, raising important issues that might otherwise not be publicly debated or addressed, such as corruption, political wrongdoing or human rights violations, thereby strengthening the rule of law and good governance. These essential contributions of the media are essential to fostering peaceful societies and resolving conflicts. With the advent of new media, there is a need for Africa to exploit technological innovations to empower people through media and information literacy to promote a climate of peace in Africa. In this regard, combating hate speech, promoting freedom of expression, protecting press freedom, ensuring the safety of journalists and promoting conflict sensitive and gender responsive dialogue are all relevant themes that will be explored during this session.

- Role of Media in Violence and Conflict Prevention: African Perspectives
- Mobilizing Justice systems in Africa in support of Freedom of Expression and Journalist's Safety.

YOUTH FORUM

The Youth Forum is a privileged space for reflection and exchanges for African youth from the continent and the Diasporas. It will also provide African youth with an opportunity to speak out and affirm its role in the development of the continent.

The Youth Forum will be divided into two thematic sessions:

- Youth, Peace and Security
- Creativity, Entrepreneurship and Innovation

Youth, Peace and Security:

The role of the youth in achieving peace and security now remains a major aspect of the global agenda. The Peace and Security Council of the African Union, held in Egypt on 8 November 2018, called on «all Member States to urgently implement resolution 2250, remove all structural obstacles to the effective participation of young people, mobilize the necessary resources and develop long-term national action plans for the effective involvement and participation of young people in the promotion of peace and security and in national development processes. »

UNESCO has been promoting youth engagement and dialogue for more than 3 decades and as such Youth has always been a central theme in the various Culture of Peace that the organization has been promoting in the last 30 years. In this 1st Edition of the Biennale of the Culture of Peace in Luanda, the Youth Forum will address answering three main issues: What is the level of popularization and ownership of Resolution 2250 in the Member States of the African Union? What are the best domestic practices for the implementation of this resolution? Is it possible to consider the creation, at the continental level and in partnership with the African Union, of a Coalition on Youth, Peace and Security to accelerate the implementation of Resolutions 2250 and 2419?

Creativity, Entrepreneurship and Innovation:

Africa has the youngest population of the world and while this in itself can be considered an advantage, to yield the so-called youth dividend, the potential of this young people will need to be cherished and stimulated for Africa to reach the goals of Agenda 2063. Countries in Africa however are battling with challenges in identifying policies and resources to serve adequately its youth. One of the main areas of concern is the creation of meaningful and decent (self-) employment.

By necessity or choice, more and more of young people in Africa are embracing entrepreneurship either to create wealth and make profits or to create social value and ensure their financial autonomy. This creative and innovative entrepreneurial spirit of young people is deployed and manifested in almost all areas of the social and economic life of the continent's countries.

Based on «success stories», this 2nd session of the Youth Forum will highlight not only all the concrete solutions and good practices of young people themselves in terms of entrepreneurial innovation for their economic empowerment and job creation including the use of Artificial Intelligence, but also the challenges (in terms of financing, matching training/employment and support, etc.) that they are facing on a daily basis as economic or social entrepreneurs.

Concretely, this session will focus on young people answering the following questions: what are the inclusive public policies that promote the development and empowerment of African youth in African countries for the Creativity, Entrepreneurship and Innovation of young people? Can Entrepreneurship be used to help address the problem of youth unemployment?

WOMEN'S FORUM

During the 21st September, International Day of Peace, the Biennale for the Culture of Peace of Luanda will reflect on the nexus between women and peace through the Women's Forum of the event.

Concretely, this Forum will provide an opportunity to share best practices focused on reducing girls and women's vulnerability to violence in all its forms as well as highlight the role of women as agents of peace and development in Africa.

Vulnerability of girls and women to violence / Women as agents of peace

As a result of stereotypes, discrimination and societal norms and stigma on the basis of their gender, girls and women are generally the ones who pay the heaviest toll in societies both in times of peace and in times of conflicts. While situation among countries in the continent vary, generally, compared to other parts of the world, Africa is the continent where progress in combating violence against women and girls is slowest.

This session will focus on projects and initiatives of UNESCO, the African Union in the African continent, and in Angola, on how to counter gender-based violence, and empower women and girls to be active and become key players in the decision making process and efforts to shape their society to the best.

It will also focus on the efforts of notable women and organizations that are involved in promoting gender equality, and their contributions to mainstreaming the culture of peace in Africa.
