

Online training on the fight against illicit trafficking of cultural property for European judicial, police and customs professionals

Available from 1 March 2019 to 31 January 2020

Thanks to the support of the European Union, UNESCO has developed an online learning tool to support the work of European judiciary and law enforcement officials in fighting against illicit trafficking of cultural property.

The content of this training course was developed on the basis of the Toolkit for European Judiciary and Law Enforcement published by UNESCO in November 2018, with the support of the European Union.

Access to the course is for professionals only, and its duration is approximately 2 hours.

It is also possible to use the platform to exchange with colleagues, share relevant information, ask questions or bring suggestions to the Secretariat of the 1970 Convention.