2. What is particular relevance of the activity to the objectives and programs of UNESCO?

The 12th “Sharq Taronalari” International Music Festival and International Conference on Protection of Tangible and Intangible Cultural Heritage were organized by the initiative of the Government of Uzbekistan, in Samarkand from 26 to 30 August 2019. The Festival was aimed to promote the oral traditions which are an invaluable source of the living heritage, to manifest creativity and diversity of arts worldwide, to motivate youth’s interest to the art, to develop network among ICH bearers internationally. The objectives of the Festival were in line with provisions of the integrated promotion and practical implementation of 1972, 2003 and 2005 UNESCO’s Conventions. The ancient city brought together artists, ICH bearers and scholars from over 78 countries of the world. The program of the Festival included contests of traditional music performers. The performing art was judged by an international jury made up of famous musicologists, art directors and managers of international festivals. Mrs. Audrey Azoulay (Director-General of UNESCO) attended and addressed opening remarks.

Opening Ceremony of the Festival has been organized in Registan Square of the Samarkand on 26th of August 2019. H.E. Mr. Shavkat Mirziyoev, President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, delivered opening address to the participants of the Festival. More than 400 participants from 78 countries attended the opening ceremony, including representatives from UNESCO HQ, ISESCO as well as Ministers of Culture from Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, and Turkmenistan.

3) The International Conference “Preservation of Tangible and Intangible Cultural Heritage Challenges and Strategies” was organized on 26 August (at the Palace of Forums in Samarkand) by the initiatives of the H.E. Mr. Shavkat Mirziyoev, President of the Republic of Uzbekistan for the first time not only in Uzbekistan, but also in the entire Central Asian Region. Thus, International Conference was one of the most important parts of the International Music Festival “Sharq Taronalari” in participation of 300 guests from almost 60 countries in the field of architecture, restoration and preservation, history, musicology, manuscripts.

Goals and objectives of the conference were:

- promotion of the UNESCO principles for the protection of tangible cultural heritage and preservation of intangible cultural heritage;*
- exchange of experience of various countries in the preservation and popularization of historical and cultural heritage at the present stage;*
- improvement of preservation system of historical and the cultural heritage at the present stage;*
- introduction of new strategies and technologies in the preservation, conservation and restoration of historical and cultural heritage;*
- introduction of innovative digital technologies in the field of study, preservation and use of cultural heritage;*
