

Subject: UNESCO in Asia-Pacific News, August 2019

Thailand first introduced a sex-education curriculum four decades ago. Since then, concepts of sexuality education have continued to evolve, reflecting a much more expansive understanding of students' well-being. Read more

In the early morning of 24 April 2019, two back-to-back earthquakes of magnitudes 5.2 and 4.3 struck Central Nepal, claimed nearly 9,000 lives, left more than 22,000 injured and destroyed some 600,000 structures. Read more

Like 1

Tweet 0

Share 0

Save 0

0

Gender bias exposed

Education system in Japan still tested by deep-rooted inequalities

© Shutterstock/West

Recent news that the pass ratio for female students applying to Tokyo Medical University slightly exceeded that of their male peers should come as no surprise - education experts have no reason to doubt girls and women's ability to excel in such merit-based exams. Read more

© UNESCO/Cenga

Recent months have seen positive strides in LGBTI rights across the Asia-Pacific. There has been incremental progress toward civil unions in Thailand, while Taiwan (China) made history last month by legalizing same-sex marriage. Read more

Like 1

Tweet 0

Share 0

Save 0

0

When the fisherfolk community of Cadiz City in Negros Occidental was first approached by the Philippine Normal University Visayas, they resisted. The university wanted to provide aid, but not in the way most were used to: it was not food, nor money - it was education. Read more

Just days before World Press Freedom Day on 3 May, journalists marked the tragic one-year anniversary of dual suicide bombings in Kabul that killed nine of their colleagues. Read more

Like 1

Tweet 0

Share 0

Save 0

0

Documentary heritage

Joint nominations focus on shared
Memory of the World

© UNESCO Kabul

The Asia-Pacific region is home to rich and diverse documentary heritage reflecting the cultures, histories, traditions and values of its nations. Read more

TVET for the future

Education review crucial for a 21st-century
workforce in Myanmar

© Getty Images/Smolaw11

A remote-controlled robot that detects dangerous chemicals, automated traffic lights, a water-debris cleaning system, and an autonomous lawn mower were among the projects showcased by students from the Government Technical Institute in Yangon on 15 July 2019. Read more

Like 1

Tweet 0

Share 0

Save 0

0

RSS

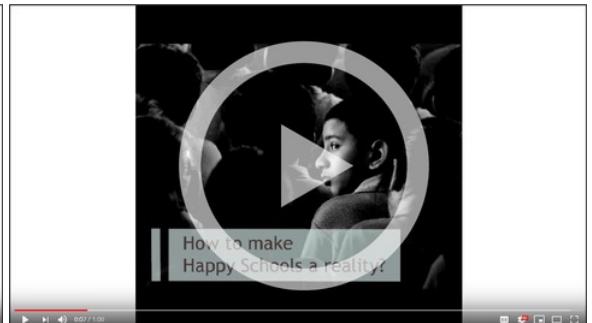

The jewelry once adorned a statue of the god Vishnu, a representation of the prestige and power of the kings of the ancient Khmer Empire. Read more

YouTube

The SDGs brought to life through performance art. Watch VDO

Happy schools for our future. Watch VDO

INFOGRAPHICS

Out-of-School Children. Read more

Qualified Teachers. Read more

LATEST PUBLICATIONS

Digital Kids Asia-Pacific: Insights into Children's Digital Citizenship
download

Assessment of Transversal Competencies: Current Tools in the Asian Region
download

Like 1

Tweet 0

Share 0

Save 0

0

แนวปฏิบัติสากล
ทางวิชาการ เรื่อง
เพศวิถีศึกษา โดย
ใช้แนวทางที่มีหลัก
ฐานทาง
วิทยาศาสตร์
สนับสนุน (ฉบับ
ปรับปรุง)
download

Natural Sciences -
Science for Sustainable Human
Living in Asia-
Pacific (Brochure)
download

View this email online if it doesn't display correctly

UNESCO Bangkok Office
920 Sukhumvit Road, Prakanong, Klongtoei, Bangkok 10110, Thailand
Phone: +66-2-3910577 Fax: +66-2-3910866
Email: pio.bangkok@unesco.org
Website: bankok.unesco.org

You may unsubscribe or change your contact details at any time.

GetResponse

Archive main page > 2019 > August > UNESCO in Asia-Pacific News, August 2019

This is an online snapshot of a newsletter created by the owner of UNESCO Asia-Pacific Newsletter (UNESCO Bangkok, Mom Luang Pin Malakul Cente Road, 10100 Bangkok, Thailand) and sent via GetResponse on 2019-08-07. Report abuse