Message from Nicholas Burnett, Assistant Director-General for Education of UNESCO

N etworks facilitate learning, knowledge sharing and exchange of experiences. UNESCO's UNEVOC Network is a worldwide network in the area of Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET). It links and fosters interaction and learning among diverse groups and institutions of TVET practitioners around the world. Some of the UNEVOC Centres are hosted by departments of TVET under ministries of education; some are technical colleges; and others are located within university faculties and centres.

The publication of this revised UNEVOC Network Directory should be useful to all TVET practitioners. Apart from presenting contact data, the revised Directory provides information about UNEVOC Centres by region, by areas of interest and specialisation, and by type of institution. It explains how to become a UNEVOC Centre and the benefits of membership. Busy TVET practitioners seeking to identify possible partners or to make an inquiry about a particular topic can easily do so, beginning from their regions to localities further afield. The revised Directory should also help National Commissions for UNESCO as they consider enquiries about becoming UNEVOC Centres.

SECTION ONE

INTRODUCTION

Foreword

he UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre is at the forefront of the implementation of UNESCO's mandate with respect to TVET.

Enhancing TVET, promoting universal access to TVET and ensuring quality TVET to provide positive results-based outcomes are all part of UNESCO-UNEVOC's contribution to the attainment of:

- The Millennium Development Goals (U.N. General Assembly, 2000);
- Education for All (World Forum on Education, Dakar, Senegal, 2000);
- Education for Sustainable Development (UNESCO Decade of ESD, 2004–14).

ENHANCING TVET

The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre assists UNESCO's Member States with technical know how and support to strengthen and upgrade their systems of TVET, and to assist Member States to broaden options for TVET innovatively.

For this purpose, the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre works for and with general education providers and particularly for and with TVET policymakers, education managers, teachers and learners on the TVET production side. The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre also works with employers and their associations, and workers rights and protection personnel, on the TVET consumer side.

ACCESSING TVET

The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre's mandate is to work for and with all UNESCO Member States on providing universal access to TVET. Within that context, the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre has a primary focus on least developed and developing countries. Within this context again, the focus is on countries in conflict and post-conflict situations, and those going through phases of transition – economic, social and political.

The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre pays special attention to TVET for meeting the needs of women and girls. It also has concerns for TVET for the impaired, whether physically, socially or environmentally. TVET for disadvantaged groups is equally a matter of support from the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre. TVET for persons or groups disadvantaged by distance and communication, poverty, the rigours of the environment and "natural" disasters, war and postwar situations, or eternally trapped as minorities in society calls for special consideration and application, which the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre is determined to support.

TVET QUALITY ASSURANCE

Assuring quality TVET ensures a win-win situation for providers and consumers within and beyond formal TVET systems.

Within TVET systems quality teaching and learning ensures quality institutions and graduates: Beyond TVET systems, quality TVET enhances the vocational future of graduates and guarantees service and production outputs for employers, companies and service providers. Running hand-in-hand with the same quality assurance applicability are onservicing and inservicing, combining TVET and workplace operations.

"WORKING FOR AND WITH ..."

Working for and with is the modus operandi of the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre, Bonn. A key instrument in working for and with is the UNEVOC Network which at the time of printing embraced 272 Centres in 166 UNESCO Member States.

The data purpose of this UNEVOC Network Directory is to provide readers with baseline information on UNEVOC Network Centres, and their TVET activities and spheres of influence. You will find in this Directory the whereabouts of the UNEVOC Network Centres in terms of the UNESCO Member States and Regions. Most importantly, you will find how to interact with UNEVOC Network Centres. Electronic contact addresses are provided, where available. Other contact modes are also provided.

The functional purpose of this Directory is to encourage interaction between UNEVOC Network Centres, and between non-Centre personnel and UNEVOC Network Centres to disseminate information on best practices and innovative approaches, and to promote developments in TVET.

There is a considerable amount of regional, national and local indigenous TVET wisdom waiting to be tapped. From enquiries to the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre in Bonn and mail on e-Forum, there is a considerable amount of TVET information and assistance being sought and shared. This Directory provides the means for this interaction to continue.

UNEVOC NETWORK CENTRES OF EXCELLENCE: RECOGNISING QUALITY

Recognition of significant, quality contributions of UNEVOC Network Centres to UNEVOC is made through the award of Regional Centre of Excellence status to the Centres identified. There are two Centres at the present time, both in the Asia and Pacific region. It is proposed to explore the addition of more Centres of Excellence to this number from the remaining UNESCO regions. The present Centres of Excellence are:

The Korean Research Institute for Vocational Education and Training (KRIVET);

and

TAFE SA Adelaide South, jointly with the Australian National Centre for Vocational Education Research (NCVER).

Centres of Excellence are UNEVOC Network Centres recognised principally because of their expertise in one or more fields of TVET and their support and commitment to UNEVOC.

Centres of Excellence also commit themselves to providing significant ongoing activities to benefit other UNEVOC Network Centres in their region.

Information on the Centre of Excellence award may be obtained from the Head of UNEVOC Networks at the addresses located on the cover page of this Directory.

PREFACE

apid changes characterise workplaces in this age of rapid technological development and globalisation, affecting the battery of competencies required for employment. Jobs and how they are performed, and the notion of employment are changing as well. The changes compel a re-think of technical and vocational education and training (TVET) systems and means of delivery. Knowledge has exploded in the wake of developments. Thus, individuals face daily challenges "to keep up to date and being selective amidst growing mountains of information ... And yet to keep up to date with everything is not possible." (Paul Brennan. Not just another Listserve: the contribution of ACCC Affinity Groups to Knowledge Exchange, Sectoral Initiatives and Innovation, Major Research Paper, 2002, p.31).

This situation makes it necessary for providers of TVET to regularly innovate various aspects of TVET in order to satisfy individual needs of for relevant and good quality education and training for employability. Often efforts to innovate in TVET founder on the absence of simple and readily accessible exemplars, leaving TVET planners to conduct long searches of what to do and how to do it. With a well functioning network, it is unnecessary to reinvent the wheel.

In the area of TVET, UNESCO has the UNEVOC Network. It is at once a strategy and framework for collaboration and cooperation in the development and improvement of TVET (UNESCO, International Programme for TVE, 2000). Importantly it is a worldwide learning network. It came into being in the early 1990s following the establishment of the UNESCO International Project on TVE (UNEVOC Project). The UNEVOC Project was established to assist UNESCO Member States to develop and improve TVET. The UNEVOC Network offers TVET practitioners a means and coherent framework for ongoing rapid learning, cooperation, collaboration and exchanges of experiences. It is uniquely positioned for knowledge sharing and management. This edition of the UNEVOC Network Directory facilitates communication and interaction among and between UNEVOC Network Centres.

THE UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre for Technical and Vocational Education and Training (UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre) is the hub of the UNEVOC Networks. The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre was set up by UNESCO in 2000 as a result of the 1999 UNESCO General Conference concerning the development and improvement of technical and vocational education and training. Subsequently, an agreement was signed between UNESCO and the Government of Germany to establish the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre in Bonn. Germany. The establishment of the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre in fulfilled part the recommendations of the Second International Congress on TVE (1999), especially the one reading thus:

"... The UNEVOC Network should he strengthened. Member States are encouraged to continue to underpin regional and national Centres which are essential vehicles for the achievement of the new vision for TVE in the twenty-first century (UNESCO, Second International on Technical and Congress Vocational Education. Final Report, Seoul, 1999, p. 68).

UNESCO-UNEVOC The International Centre orchestrates programmes and activities to mobilise the UNEVOC Network to achieve the purpose for which it has been established. Making up the UNEVOC Network are UNEVOC Network Centres that are established by Member States in institutions involved in TVET. The UNEVOC Network Centres are set up on the advice of the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre. They are focal points for receiving and disseminating UNESCO messages. Because of the enormous variation in the type and functions of UNEVOC Network Centres, the UNEVOC Network can in fact be viewed as not one but several networks. Among the institutions making up the UNEVOC Networks are government departments, quasi-public authorities responsible for TVET, public vocational education and training institutions, guasipublic institutions, tertiary institutions and skills development centres in universities. This is great diversity. The UNEVOC Network is complemented by an e-Forum Network, which is a network of individual TVET practitioners.

The goals of the UNEVOC Network are to:

(a) Promote and foster collaboration in developing and improving TVET through a world-wide network of UNEVOC Centres;

(b) Develop UNEVOC Network Centres into an inclusive and effective network providing various forms of assistance to vocation education leaders and and practitioners; and (c) Share best innovative practices.

The following are its objectives:

- To enable UNEVOC Network Centres to be active channels for offering assistance to vocational leaders and educators and for providing reliable services, including the dissemination of UNESCO messages on TVET related matters;
- With UNEVOC Network Centres of sound profile to establish an inclusive learning network aimed at improving the availability of learning and teaching resources and innovatory tools; and at raising the national effectiveness of UNEVOC Network Centres and the status of TVET; and
- To consolidate the UNEVOC Networks through enhanced networking, clustering and access to dependable information on UNEVOC Network Centres and their contribution to knowledge generation and sharing.

This edition of the UNEVOC Network Directory is intended to facilitate networking, communication and information sharing. Further, it is designed to help team leaders of UNEVOC Network Centres easily identify institutions with similar interests including areas of specialisation. The organisation of the Directory by region and country, and the indication of activities of interest and subject matter specialisations should make it more interesting, informative and easy to use. The Directory should satisfy the needs of different affinity groups in the UNEVOC Network. It should be a lot easier for those wishing to deepen interaction around a particular interest or subject matter theme to identify likeminded UNEVOC Network Centres.

The UNEVOC Network is open to technical and vocational institutions, and other institutions working in the area of education and training in UNESCO Member States. Nationally recognised TVET institutions and organisations satisfying the criteria for membership can join the UNEVOC Network. More information on the criteria and obligations attached to joining the UNEVOC Network can be found below in the section "The UNEVOC Network". There can be one or more UNEVOC Network Centres in each Member State.

Institutions joining the UNEVOC Network derive benefits: some tangible, some intangible. The benefits relate to the nature of the Network, its actions and. more importantly, the services that can be obtained from the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre. The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre carries out myriad activities apart from those concerning the UNEVOC Network. The UNEVOC Network offers a unique international channel to contribute to the well-being of developing countries. It provides expanded opportunities to interact, network and participate in international events. It facilitates the development of a cohesive network of partners from all over the world, who subscribe to the mission of the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre and that of UNESCO as a whole in the arena of TVET. Other opportunities concern exercising leadership in research and training activities internationally. As a framework for collaborative work, it facilitates the collaboration and exchange of examples, good practices and innovations with other TVET practitioners around the world. Through membership of the UNEVOC Network, institutions and individual experts can join the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre to organise and host activities such as conferences, seminars, workshops and study visits with funding provided by UNESCO-UNEVOC to support the participation of practitioners from developing countries.

L. Efison Munjanganja Head of UNEVOC Networks

USING THE DIRECTORY

his Directory provides all the basic information you require about UNEVOC Network Centres for the purposes of networking and collaboration. The Directory will enable you or your Centre to identify which other Centres may be of interest to you in terms of their activities and the populations they serve and, principally, where they are and how to contact them. In turn, the Directory provides these others with information about your Centre.

The information below is intended primarily to assist persons who only have access to a hard copy of the Directory. Browsing the online version at www.unevoc.unesco.org/network is, of course, simply a matter of using the "find" function.

Section One of the Directory focuses on the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre with its Director and the Head of UNEVOC Networks introducing you to the Centre and the Network. Also included in this section are the objectives of the Network and the membership expectations a UNEVOC Network Centre carries. Section Two lists the UNEVOC Network Centres by country in alphabetical order. Full available contact information is found in this section. An explanatory note at the beginning of this section makes browsing quite simple.

Section Three clusters UNEVOC Network Centres in terms of the activities and the population(s) each serves. Key descriptors of activities and populations are provided for ease of access. Similar to sections above, contact information is also provided.

Section Four registers UNESCO Network Centres by the UNESCO regions in which they operate.

Section Five broadens the sphere of contact for Centres by listing, with full contact information, the collaborative partners whom the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre has, both within UNESCO and beyond. Useful linkages may be found in this section.

Section Six contains summary information about the Directory.

UNESCO-UNEVOC ACTIVITIES IN SUMMARY

NESCO-UNEVOC promotes TVET in UNESCO Member States directly through the generation and dissemination of TVET knowledge and information, and indirectly in providing mechanisms for the exchange of TVET knowledge and information, to meet professional/grassroots TVET concerns.

1. GENERATING AND DISSEMINATING TVET KNOWLEDGE AND INFORMATION: UNESCO-UNEVOC INTERNATIONAL CENTRE ACTIVITIES IN SUMMARY

TVET knowledge and information is generated in the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre and the results appear in books, reports, bulletins and brochures on key issues prepared and published by UNESCO-UNEVOC or in collaboration with other agencies.

A second form of knowledge generation emanates from the range of meetings, conferences, seminars, mobile training teams and the like which are organised world-wide by the UNEVOC International Centre alone or in cooperation with others on TVET issues, problems and themes. Again, the resulting knowledge and information are disseminated in multimedia format.

The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre in Bonn is responsible for the following publications:

- UNESCO-UNEVOC International Handbook of Education for the Changing World of Work: Bridging Academic and Vocational Education;
- International Handbook of Technical and Vocational Education and Training Research;
- UNESCO-UNEVOC Book Series "Current Developments in Technical and Vocational Education and Training: Issues, Concerns and Prospects";
- UNESCO-UNEVOC Discussion Papers;
- UNESCO-UNEVOC Annotated Bibliographies of Technical and Vocational Education and Training;
- UNESCO-UNEVOC Case Studies of Technical and Vocational Education and Training in Selected Countries.

Comprehensive information on this mass of TVET knowledge and information generation and dissemination, including individual publications and their availability may be accessed at www.unevoc.unesco.org/publications or obtained through the mail or fax addresses of UNESCO- UNEVOC, which appear on the cover page of this Directory.

2. PROVIDING MECHANISMS FOR THE EXCHANGE OF TVET KNOWLEDGE AND INFORMATION, TO MEET PROFESSIONAL/GRASSROOTS TVET CONCERNS

A. The UNESCO-UNEVOC Bulletin informs TVET experts of activities of UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre, and activities of UNEVOC Network Centres and other agencies engaged in TVET. The Bulletin brings together the major international agencies involved in TVET to report on their activities.

The Bulletin contains a supplement called the UNEVOC Forum. The Forum is distributed with the Bulletin, but is also available separately. Researchers, policy makers and practitioners from around the world are invited to contribute their views in the form of a long article on a key issue, concern or prospect regarding TVET.

Access or order the Bulletin and Forum free of charge at: www.unevoc.unesco.org/bulletin or through the mail or fax addresses of UNESCO-UNEVOC, which appear on the cover page of this Directory.

B. The UNESCO-UNEVOC Electronic Mailing Forum (e-Forum) is an Internet-based service provided by UNESCO-UNEVOC. Its purpose is to facilitate the international exchange of information and knowledge in TVET.

The e-Forum brings together educators, researchers and other interested people from around the world to share information on a non-commercial basis. It links the UNEVOC Network with a range of other relevant networks and individuals.

The e-Forum has been operational since 1998 and now links upwards of 1,000, mainly TVET professionals. Participation is free of charge.

It is strongly recommended that all personnel associated with UNEVOC Centres access e-Forum as many requests for advice come from persons from outside the UNEVOC Network, who are unaware of the expertise available through the Network.

For information on the e-Forum, including how to join, see: www.unevoc.unesco.org/forum.

C. TVETipedia

TVETipedia is meant to be:

- A tool for online collaboration of the international TVET community to share TVET information, knowledge, examples of best practice, etc.
- An "open" space for knowledge sharing and collaboration. While all articles are freely accessible on a "read-only" basis for all internet users, it is very easy to create user accounts and immediately start adding and editing content (of course, it is also possible to send content via email or fax to the editors). Whoever has information that may be relevant for others is invited to contribute.
- Following the example of the vastly successful online encyclopaedia Wikipedia, TVETipedia is not meant to be a portal with a predetermined structure. Instead, all content is organised in wiki articles, leaving a lot of flexibility to contributors.

Contributors:

Basically, anybody interested is able and welcome to create a UNEVOC account allowing them to add and edit TVETipedia articles. The "core initial community" consists of some 1000 e-Forum members and all staff members of UNEVOC Centres, who already have UNEVOC accounts.

Scope of content:

All relevant TVET themes and TVET information related to regions and countries, including:

- TVET policy documents
- Curricula
- Learning materials
- Other publications
- Examples of best practice
- Descriptions of TVET projects
- Information on national and TVET systems and regional initiatives
- Descriptions of TVET institutions, decision-making bodies, etc.
- TVET resources (online or print)
- Relevant TVET organisations, including all members of the UNEVOC Network, TVET schools
- national, regional and international organizations, and their projects
- Relevant activities of TVET organisations, including those of members of the UNEVOC Network
- TVET schools, national, regional and international organisations and their projects
- TVET communities (online or face-to-face)

More information is available at: www.unevoc.unesco.org/tvetipedia

UNEVOC NETWORK

The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre fosters the UNEVOC Network in UNESCO Member States.

THE UNEVOC NETWORK

The UNEVOC Network is an international Network in technical and vocational education and training (TVET). This Network is made up of UNEVOC Centres, which are endorsed for registration as Centres by National Commissions for UNESCO and incorporated into the Network through the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre in Bonn.

THE UNEVOC NETWORK'S OBJECTIVES

The UNEVOC Network has a threefold objective:

- To encourage and promote the development of TVET systems and policies through the adaptation of international experiences, best practices and innovations in TVET;
- To develop the capacities of UNEVOC Centres and associated TVET practitioners; and
- To share knowledge, know-how and competencies.

SCOPE OF THE UNEVOC NETWORK

The UNEVOC Network is found on all continents and in most UNESCO Member States. PR China has twelve Centres, however most countries have one or two.

Some Centres – known as System-Responsible Centres – are multi-purpose institutions embracing most if not all TVET activities. Many others are singlepurpose Centres such as for teaching only, research only and the like.

Similarly, some Centres provide for the total population involved in TVET. Others address a single purpose population, such as girls or post-school personnel.

There is considerable institutional diversity in the institutions among the UNEVOC Centres that make up the UNEVOC Network. This diversity covers government departments, statutory authorities, public and private vocational education and training institutions, quasi-public institutions, tertiary institutions providing advanced technological education and/or skills development centres, and TVET preservice and inservice teacher training institutions.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF UNEVOC NETWORK CENTRES

The activity responsibilities of UNEVOC Network Centres are:

- Centres will participate in events organised by the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre, such as conferences, workshops, and inter-Centre visits, including projects contributing to the collection of country data and resulting in reports on good practices, frameworks, innovations and models in TVET;
- Centres will organise national and regional network activities as and when the opportunity arises or can be created;
- Centres will disseminate to TVET practitioners within its sphere of influence UNESCO-UNEVOC TVET messages, exchanges of information, experiences and lessons learnt;
- Centres will collaborate through networking with other UNEVOC Centres both in seeking information and responding to requests for information and advice;
- Centres will report to UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre (on-line when this becomes available and if access is available to the Centre, and by correspondence if not) domestic changes in the situation of the UNEVOC Centre, with regard to its status, contact details and staff movements, to keep the UNEVOC Network up-to-date;
- Centres shall respond in a timely way to communications from other Centres and the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre in Bonn;
- Centres shall complete the review form required of each biennially.

CRITERIA FOR BECOMING A UNEVOC NETWORK CENTRE

The criteria on which UNEVOC Centre Membership is determined are:

- UNEVOC Network Centres shall be officially recognised stand alone institutions or institutions within a host organisation, such as a ministry, statutory authority or tertiary institution;
- UNEVOC Network Centres shall have TVET as their raison d'être;
- UNEVOC Network Centres shall adhere to the objectives of the Network and the activity expectations of UNEVOC Centres which appear above;

- Network Centres shall complete the UNEVOC Network Centre Nomination Form;
- UNEVOC Network Centres shall obtain the endorsement of the National Commission for UNESCO of their country for membership of the UNEVOC Network;
- The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre shall determine the acceptance or otherwise of a nominated Centre, and inform the relevant National Commission and Centre accordingly.

UNESCO-UNEVOC INTERNATIONAL CENTRE SUPPORT FOR MAINTAINING A QUALITY UNEVOC NETWORK

The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre can assist UNEVOC Network Centres in the promotion of the UNEVOC Network by:

- Providing information, as it does, across the range of TVET activities in multi-media format and introducing new information data bases such as TVETipedia
- Broadening further the scope and activity of the e-Forum;
- Assisting UNEVOC Network Centres to secure resources to better communicate with and distribute information in-country;
- Broadening the range of activities such as workshops, seminars and conferences;
- Providing for the updating of knowledge and skills through Mobile Training Teams, Attachments, Fellowships and Internships.

UNESCO-UNEVOC INTERNATIONAL CENTRE INSTITUTIONAL SUPPORT FOR UNEVOC NETWORK CENTRES

The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre is keen to maintain the quality and activity of the UNEVOC Network. The Head of Network is available to support

UNEVOC Network Centres which have difficulty in continuing with the activities expected of a Centre or meeting the criteria for a Centre.

Where a Centre finds itself in this situation but wishes to continue membership, the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre will, in consultation with the Centre, provide a timeline for and supply what resources it can to enable the Centre again to participate actively in the UNEVOC Network.

Where such support is unsuccessful, or where a Centre wishes to discontinue membership of the UNEVOC Network or where a Centre simply dose not respond to membership requirements without consultation with the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre, the UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre will advise the National Commission and the Centre of its decision to terminate membership in the UNEVOC Network. Such determination will take effect from a date advised to the UNEVOC Network Centre and the National Commission concerned.

UNEVOC NETWORK PROFILED BY KNOWN INTENDED POPULATIONS (CLIENTS)

All Data: UNESCO-UNEVOC Database, December 2008

This section of the Directory lists the purposes, activities and/or responsibilities of UNEVOC Host Institutions/Centres, using summary key descriptors. This listing will enable UNEVOC Centres to identify quickly other Centres with similar interests to their own and with whom they may wish to interact.

The summary key descriptors are:

| System-Responsible   |                                  |  |  |  |
|--|----------------------------------|--|--|--|

2. Most countries have at least one "System-Responsible" Host Institution/Centre – usually a Ministry or Statutory Authority – which has overall national responsibility for TVET with regard to most, if not all, of the above key descriptors. These Centres are described in this listing as a "System-Responsible Body".

3. To further define and inform on the purpose of UNEVOC Centres, the personnel they aim to serve are also identified. The following descriptors of personnel have been used:

| Various*   |
|--|
| School Students (Primary and/or Secondary)   |
| Post School Persons (Including TVET Colleges)  |
| Tertiary Students  |

Explanatory comments are added in the listing entry, where appropriate, to explain further responsibilities of Host Institutions/Centres.

4. Initial contact information for each Centre is included in the listing for this section. Full contact details are available in section two of this Directory.

CLUSTER OFFICES

Cluster Offices are the main platform for delivery of all UNESCO activities and are multidisciplinary in nature, ideally with each sector represented. They have representational authority for a cluster of Member States. The Heads of Office, while often having a background in a particular field, mostly play an executive role, managing the programme specialists covering the various domains. The office implements a cluster programme which is the result of consultation and consensus, National Offices joining that cluster programme through a collegial approach between Heads of Office.

Cluster Offices are located in:

| Accra       | Beirut        | Jakarta    | Quito    |
|-------------|---------------|------------|----------|
| Addis Ababa | Cairo         | Kingston   | Rabat    |
| Almaty      | Dakar         | Libreville | San José |
| Apia        | Dar es Salaam | Montevideo | Tehran   |
| Bamako      | Doha          | Moscow     | Windhoek |
| Bangkok     | Harare        | Nairobi    | Yaoundé  |
| Beijing     | Havana        | New Delhi  |          |

UNESCO NATIONAL OFFICES

National Offices have representational authority for one Member State. Their programmes are more focused, according to the purpose for which they were maintained. They are time-bound and implement a national programme, which results from consultations within that country. They assist in devising the cluster programme where that Member State is concerned.

National Offices are located in:

UNESCO REGIONAL BUREAUX

Regional Bureaux are monosectoral in their programme approach. They are responsible for regional programmes in that particular programme domain, which are implemented through the Cluster and National Offices and drawn up by means of regional consultations. Regional Bureaux are almost always located in a Cluster Office and as such benefit from staff in a variety of fields, but often have an additional complement in their own domain. Those staff with regional responsibilities based in offices other than Regional Bureaux act first and foremost as Programme Specialists answerable to the Head of that Office. They are connected in a virtual sense though do not report to the Sector or nearest Regional Bureau. Regional Bureaux have no representational authority, nor do they oversee the Cluster and National Offices in hierarchical terms.
