Macedonian Research Society (hereinafter "MRS") continued on its path for preservation and promotion of the cultural heritage of the Macedonian nation, especially in the field of "knowledge and practices concerning nature and the universe" (Article 2, 2d of UNESCO 2003 Convention). Activities commenced in the past period reported in 2017 report, related to the introducing the category ethnoastronomy in the National Register of intangible cultural heritage of Macedonia, in cooperation with the Institute of Folklore "Marko Cepenkov", resulted with the official Decision by the Ministry of Culture of Republic of North Macedonia (Official Gazette of RNM No.150/2019 from 23.07.2019) for approval of the category "ethnoastronomy/The sky map of the Macedonian people" in the National Register of intangible cultural heritage in the category of "heritage of exceptional meaning", subcategory "heritage of very important meaning". However, political instability faced by the country in the period 2015 – 2017, postponed the process of governmental proclamation, so the final act and Government's Decision was announced and received in July 2019. This very important act is due to the advocacy undertaken by MRS members. Once the Act and the Decision were made, MRS continued to and is still very much active in building capacities of relevant institutions for further implementation of practices and measures for the preservation and presentation of the intangible cultural heritage. Still activities were of limited scope and impact due to the outbreak of the world pandemic of Covid-19.

Previous such participation was done with the State Periodic reporting on the Convention at the end of 2016.

These field researches are accompanied with steps such as identification, documentation, research, preservation, protection, promotion, enhancement, transmission, particularly through formal and non-formal education, as well as the revitalization of the various aspects of this and other forms of cultural heritage. Still, most of the activities in this segment were carried out prior the outbreak of the world pandemic of Covid -19.
