

Youth Employment in the Mediterranean

Regional Forum (Online Event)

Save the Date: 8 April 2021, 10:30 am (Paris time)

UNESCO is pleased to announce the upcoming YEM Regional Forum on 8 April 2021 from 10:30 am to 12:45 pm (Paris time).

In the framework of the Youth Employment in the Mediterranean (YEM) project, UNESCO is organizing a Regional Forum online and invite the key stakeholders from YEM beneficiary countries to take stock of achievements under the thematic areas and to exchange lessons learned at both country and regional levels. The vision for further regional collaboration beyond the project will also be discussed. Among the participants at the Forum will be experts in the field of skills anticipation and assessment, work-based learning and digital and entrepreneurial skills as well as government, civil society and youth representatives from the beneficiary countries.

To learn more about the project outcomes, please visit the YEM knowledge Platform and the project website.

YEM is a three-year regional initiative (2018 - 2020) led by UNESCO and funded by the European Union, extended until July 2021. The YEM project is supporting youth employment in selected countries of the Southern Mediterranean Region, through actions under three main components:

Component 1: Strengthening of national systems for skills needs anticipation and assessment

Component 2: Using results of skills anticipation and assessment to improve quality and promote attractiveness of TVET pathways, especially for women

Component 3: Developing regional cooperation in the field of TVET
