To whom it may concern,

The Egyptian Society for Folk Traditions (ESFT) appreciates the steps taken to inscribe the henna element in UNESCO in accordance with Articles No. 11 and 12 of the Convention, and with the approval of local groups, given the important roles associated with this element in cultural and craft heritage. The Society has aided these efforts through its collaboration with the Folk Arts and Intangible Cultural Heritage Committee of the Supreme Council of Culture, the Cultural Development Fund of the Ministry of Culture, as well as with a variety of media institutions and many artisans in the field concerned with preserving, safeguarding and further developing the element. The objective of these measures is to provide support and ensure the sustainability of the element and its associated fields, as well as to ensure community recognition of the element. We hope that more efforts will continue to be made in this regard to ensure the preservation of this distinguished art form and its continued existence.

The Egyptian Society for Folk Traditions is a civil society organization registered with the Ministry of Social Solidarity under no. 1434/2000. The Society is also registered with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) under no. 90182:7606. It was elected at the 2016 Intergovernmental Committee meeting in Addis Ababa as a member of the Evaluation Body, which is a consultative body that was established to evaluate nominations by State Parties for inscription on the Lists of the Intangible Cultural Heritage. The Society is also registered with the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) under no. (WO/GA/34/9-2008) as a think tank specialized in the field of cultural heritage.

Respectfully,

Eng. Haitham Younis Gad Al Mawla [signed] Signed for the Chairman of the Board of Directors Member of the Board of Directors

Henna is an essential part of our lives, both on special occasions and in our daily life. We would like the whole world to know that henna is popular in Egypt and that all of our celebrations are associated with a special day for henna. The inscription of henna in UNESCO is important because it will allow the whole world to learn about henna and our customs. I support the inscription of henna in UNESCO, and I look forward to it becoming a reality.

Henna is everything in the Nubian lifestyle, where everyone is adorned with henna at weddings, religious holidays and all celebratory occasions. Henna is also used as a gift. Henna is a staple in all households except in times of grief. I hope that Egyptian henna with its drawings and songs is inscribed in UNESCO, so that we tell the entire world that henna is an important part of our lives in Egypt. Even the youngest child in Nubia is familiar with henna, and it is customary for everyone to be adorned with henna at weddings; both men and women, old and young.

We are all in favor of the inscription of henna and everything associated with the element on the UNESCO Representative List.

I hope that henna will be inscribed on the UNESCO lists, as it is an important part of our lives and celebrations, as adornment with henna is practiced on all special occasions, religious holidays, and weddings. We want the whole world to know about henna in Egypt, how it is cultivated, its many uses, its designs, and its medicinal properties.

I agree to the inscription of the element on the UNESCO Convention lists.

The inscription of henna in UNESCO is important. We sell henna all year round in large quantities to women who use henna on their hair, hands and for medicinal purposes. The inscription of the element will let the world know that henna treatments are safe and effective, and that there are many types of henna that are used on a variety of special occasions. Henna can be used at all times except for times of grief.

I support the inscription of the element on the UNESCO Lists, as it is present in many places all over the world. Henna is considered a form of adornment, a therapeutic remedy, and a blessing in the home.

Henna designs are an art form that is mastered by women. The inscription of the element on the UNESCO Lists will allow more people around the world to know about henna, its uses and the art of henna designs and decorations. I support and encourage the inscription of the element on the UNESCO Convention lists, as well as the traditional songs of the Henna Night. Doing so will spread our art form all over the world via UNESCO.

Henna is a treatment and a source of beauty and joy. Its inscription on the UNESCO lists will spread joy and happiness and will familiarize the whole world with the beauty of henna trees and their leaves and the henna designs that are commonly practiced on joyous occasions. I support the inscription of the element on the UNESCO lists because it is representative of our country and showcases our heritage. Henna is used in the treatment of many maladies, especially fevers, and does not cause any harm whatsoever. Its inscription in UNESCO will allow the world to know that natural remedies may indeed be a better option.

The inscription of henna and its designs and patterns which are practiced on joyous occasions and as a therapeutic remedy on the UNESCO Convention lists reflects UNESCO's respect for this important element of people's heritage and their lives. This step will motivate people to preserve their heritage and pass it on to new generations. I welcome the inscription on the UNESCO lists of henna-related heritage in terms of the arts, aesthetic properties, customs, practices and therapies practiced by all factions of society. Doing so will allow the whole world to know that henna is an important part of the lives of the Egyptian people and that the cultivation of the henna tree is considered a blessing.

The inscription of henna and Henna Night on the UNESCO Representative List will incentivize the whole world to listen to the traditional songs and music of Henna Night. We support the inscription of henna and its rituals on the UNESCO lists to ensure its sustainability. We wish to inscribe henna with its music, songs, designs and the cultivation of its trees on the UNESCO lists, given that this heritage is present in Egypt.

I agree that henna and its uses as a therapeutic remedy and a form of adornment for women should be inscribed on the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage, because henna truly represents us in Nubia. There is no household in Nubia that is devoid of henna except in times of grief and mourning. I support and approve of the inscription of the element on the UNESCO lists as it represents an important part of Egyptian culture. The inscription of henna on the UNESCO Representative List is an important step that we are all looking forward to.

In my role as a traditional music teacher, I teach my students the celebratory songs associated with Henna Night as part of our traditional wedding festivities. These songs are an important part of the intangible cultural heritage of Egyptians and have a distinct character in every region of Egypt. These distinctions reflect Egypt's cultural diversity, as henna songs differ from Suez to Nubia to the Nile Delta. Recording and inventorying these songs, both at the national and international levels, is highly important for the safeguarding and sustainability of this heritage and its transmission to new generations. I support the inscription of henna rituals, practices and songs on the Representative List of the Convention for the Safeguarding of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity, and I see it as an important step to shed light on our intangible heritage.
