Countries listed in bold font have already achieved listing in the Element's extensions.

IAF has great capacity and opportunities to contribute to the implementation of the Convention at national level through our representatives and our member organisations. In general, in Countries that are States Parties to UNESCO ICH Convention. Where possible and desirable, we collaborate with national cultural authorities and institutions in favour of the implementation of the Convention by cultural, scientific, and supportive political means.

IAF supports the practice and transmission of ICH through specific activities to strengthen human capacities for safeguarding culture and heritage. All our members have an inclusive involvement in ICH safeguarding and management, particularly in the falconers' communities. In many countries IAF coordinates events, workshops, and exhibitions in museums, archives, libraries, etc., to contribute to ICH safeguarding and management. We also publish, on a regular basis, documentation to support the practice and transmission of ICH.

B.2. Describe your organization's participation in activities related to the transmission of and education for intangible cultural heritage. Explain, in particular, how your organization cooperates with communities, groups and, where relevant, individuals.

Not to exceed 250 words

IAF has a dedicated Education Working Group with project representatives from eleven Countries on five Continents. Their core objectives are the transmission of falconry heritage through formal and non-formal education, strengthening the transmission of ICH, and promoting respect for ICH to many groups across national boundaries. These activities facilitate inter-cultural and inter-linguistic communications, particularly in incorporating youths.

Many members of our Association play an active role in safeguarding and transmitting falconry elements into primary and secondary education in the context of relevant disciplines used to strengthen teaching and learning about ICH and having respect for one's own and others' ICH.

Our educational programs include the protection of natural and cultural spaces and places of "falconry memory" whose existence is necessary for expressing the ICH value of our element.

These project representatives liaise with 300 youth volunteer project members around the world:

- Translations Working Group with 32 language capacity
- School Links Programme (School students of different countries learn to respect and reflect on the ICH of their community and the ICH of others through educational programs)
- Youth Exchange Programme
- Support Task Groups (IT, Policy and Conservation Research, and Art and Design)
- Young Falconers' Group
- Social-media

B.3. Describe your organization's participation in the inventorying and research of intangible cultural heritage. Explain, in particular, how your organization cooperates with communities, groups and, where relevant, individuals.

Not to exceed 250 words

Our organisation participated in several dedicated workshops organised by the government of UAE in 2008-2015 and in capacity building workshops in Ireland, Italy and the UAE (annually) since 2017. The aim was the exchange of information, documentation and cooperation between communities and government bodies towards the promotion and preservation of falconry and/or the extension of the multinational file. Representatives of 18 government bodies and 18 national communities joined these events. Since prior inscriptions on national inventory lists are necessary, members of our organisation played a pivotal and very active role in the creation of those national inventory lists in the extension states.

We have a dedicated team exchanging information with universities and museums/archives and are currently gathering knowledge into a dedicated museum in Brussels, as capital of the EU, due to open this summer.

Over the years, the existing National Inventories have been updated to reflect the current viability of Falconry elements, covering the reporting period. Falconer's Communities, with IAF support, actively participate in the inventory process, which helps to inform and strengthen their efforts to preserve their cultural heritage.

IAF also provides financial and other types of assistance to promote research, technical and artistic studies, documentation, and archiving. These activities are focused on preserving cultural heritage and are performed in accordance with ethical standards.

B.4. Describe your organization's participation in developing policies, as well as legal and administrative measures, for safeguarding intangible cultural heritage. Explain, in particular, how your organization cooperates with communities, groups and, where relevant, individuals.

Not to exceed 250 words

Our secretariat, board and council of delegates is available to member and non-member organisations, and to non-aligned individuals to answer queries and ask for help in communicating with their national and regional authorities in matters of policy, legislation and administration.

IAF is a listed member of the EU Transparency Register and this, together with the situation of our head-office near the European Quarter in Brussels gives us access to the Parliament, the Commission and the Council of Europe. Our second office in Abu Dhabi assists non-EU states. Each continent has a vice-president living in it, with access for all the falconry communities to receive advice.

IAF provides advice to its members on cultural policies, as well as legal and administrative measures, in order to reflect the diversity of ICH and the significance of its safeguarding.

The activities and policies of IAF members are in accordance with and respect the UNESCO Ethical Principles for preserving ICH, the inclusive social development and the environmental. The practice of falconry indeed required policies and/or legal and administrative measures that recognize and support the customary rights of communities and groups to the land ecosystems and biodiversity.

B.5. Describe your organization's participation in promoting the role of intangible cultural heritage and its safeguarding in society. Explain, in particular, how your organization cooperates with communities, groups and, where relevant, individuals.

Not to exceed 250 words

Most of the IAF's activities and projects strive to highlight the role of ICH and its safeguarding in society as a source of identity, continuity, and knowledge and skills. These efforts aim to reinforce the role of ICH as a valuable resource for sustainable development.

At all the meetings and conventions, we attend (we spent 90 days of last year at such events), our speakers and representatives are instructed to include references to the 2003 UNESCO Convention and how important to the safeguarding and social acceptance of our element the convention has been. This is often extolled with considerable enthusiasm.

At social gatherings of Falconry National Clubs and Federations, we always try to include a dedicated session on the importance of UNESCO and ICH as a means of promoting dialogue, mutual respect, conflict resolution, and peace-building.

The practice of falconry is inclusive and encompasses all sectors and strata of society, including groups with diverse ethnic identities, individuals of different ages and genders, and people with disabilities.

B.6. Describe your organization's participation in raising awareness about intangible cultural heritage. Explain, in particular, how your organization cooperates with communities, groups and, where relevant, individuals.

Not to exceed 250 words

We co-operate with universities, international conventions, other NGOs and with government departments, for example cultural and environmental, to show their falconry communities in a good light. We encourage member clubs and individuals to do the same.

Recent example: at the international trade fair in Thessaloniki, Greece, successful cultural diplomacy between the Greek government authorities (both cultural and environmental) were facilitated by the Greek falconers who were invited to welcome visiting dignitaries from Middle Eastern countries. This has resulted in changes to legislation in Greece favourable to the falconry communities.

On the 16th of November each year, we celebrate the date of the original inscription in UNESCO ICH, with World Falconry Day (WFD). All individuals, clubs and organizations are welcome to participate and use the WFD logo, irrespective of membership of the IAF. The only important consideration is that the activity should be designed to develop a good image of falconry at local and global level. Events are publicized internationally.

The IAF Young Falconers group and Falconry Youth Exchange Project actively engage youth in raising awareness about ICH. This includes collecting and spreading information about falconry heritage of their school and communities using all forms of media, in particular new media, for raising awareness of the importance of ICH and its safeguarding.

B.7. Describe your organization's participation in facilitating the engagement of communities, groups and individuals, as well as other stakeholders, for safeguarding intangible cultural heritage.

Not to exceed 250 words

IAF considered Falconry as ICH already before the existence of the 2003 Convention, so we naturally identified Falconry as ICH as soon as States started to implement the Convention. Our international NGO is based on falconry individuals that form groups and communities at regional and national levels. So it is the nature of our work to cooperate with communities through meetings, festive events, internet media, printed media, word of mouth, etc.

We pay special attention to transmission of ICH from generation to generation: our members have been developing a "Children's Falconry Information Package", originally designed in the Dutch for primary school children, and now translated into the following languages: English, French, Spanish, Italian, German and Arabic. Our NGO has established an internal "Womens' Working Group". We also founded the "Young Falconers working group" during our meeting in Argentina in 2015, which is composed of young people between 16 and 29.

We encourage member organisations to hold events connected with safeguarding, and an Italian falconers' association organised the 2019 conference "SAFEGUARDING PLANNING FOR FALCONRY UNESCO INTANGIBLE CULTURAL HERITAGE ELEMENT, capacity building for falconers' community and stakeholders. This project, funded by Law February 20, 2006, n.77 "Special measures for the protection and use of Italian sites and elements of cultural, landscape and environmental interest, included in the list of world heritage, placed under UNESCO protection". It had participation by non-falconry ICH communities interested in engaging with the safeguarding of their elements.

B.8. Describe your organization's engagement in cooperation at the bilateral, subregional, regional or international levels for the implementation of the Convention, including initiatives such as the exchange of information and experience, and other joint initiatives.

Not to exceed 250 words

In some countries (e.g. Czech Republic and Ireland), we successfully encouraged parliaments to ratify the Convention, in other countries that are not yet States Parties yet we have been encouraging them to recognise the Convention.

The falconry communities of Greece, Serbia, Georgia, Denmark, China, Turkey and Malta are all engaged in encouraging their national authorities to add to the international falconry extension. Georgia and Malta already have national listings. The IAF is assisting.

B.9. Describe your organization's involvement in or contribution to the drafting of the national Periodic Report on the implementation of the Convention.

Not to exceed 250 words

Our NGO gained experience during the preparation of complex multinational nomination "Falconry, a living human heritage" inscribed in 2010/2012/2016/2021. Therefore, we have been serving as an information and knowledge database for related communities, NGOs and even for cultural authorities in certain cases. Our organisation has been contacted many times by individuals, communities and NGOs related to our work as well as in domains different from our field. We always provide and share bundles of information and documentation and examples equipped with a description of our experience and practical hints. As we know, the advantage of such an informal approach is that interested partners obtain relevant info in a friendly way and much faster than from official States authorities. Since Falconry is an interdisciplinary multinational intangible heritage, IAF inherently participates, collaborates, and contributes to the development of networks of NGOs, communities, experts, museums, dedicated or general media, at (sub)regional, national and international levels.

In some Countries, we played a positive role in implementation and ratification of the convention.

Our NGO and falconers' communities have been invited to several participating countries to provide information on Falconry as Intangible Cultural Heritage and to determine safeguarding priorities, leading to the preparation of the State's Periodic Report.

National members of our NGO also actively participated in the creation of National Inventory lists in these countries. Our contribution to the ICH element "Falconry, a living human heritage" is therefore reflected in most of the State's Periodic Reports in these countries.

B.10. Describe your organization's participation in the preparation of nominations to the Urgent Safeguarding List or Representative List, requests for International Assistance or proposals of Good Safeguarding Practices.

Not to exceed 250 words

Our organization played a crucial role in the preparation of the nomination for the Representative List, encouraging State Parties, coordinating with concerned communities and related NGO on both national and international levels, leading to the successful submission of "Falconry, a living human heritage." This nomination was inscribed in 2010, extended in 2012, re-extended in 2016 (decision 11.COM 10.b.15), and once again in 2021 (decision 16.COM 8.b.14).

IAF is pleased that this cultural element was the pioneer, and the first item of the ICH Representative List in two countries - in Austria and United Arab Emirates and this even remains the only representative cultural element inscribed in Syrian Arab Republic.

In 2012, the nomination pioneered the extension procedure with two other States - Austria and Hungary. In this regard, ICH committee mentioned in its report (ITH/10/5.COM/CONF.202/6) that this is: "an outstanding example of co-operation between States and the exemplary quality of the information provided was underlined". This success has been based on efforts that our organisation exhibited for over 5 years prior to inscription.

So far, this file is the largest multinational nomination in ICH Convention history. The large number of 24 states participated in this multinational nomination: United Arab Emirates, Austria, Belgium, Croatia, Czechia, France, Germany, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Kazakhstan, Republic of Korea, Kyrgyzstan, Mongolia, Morocco, Netherlands, Pakistan, Poland, Portugal, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Slovakia, Spain and Syrian Arab Republic. Our NGO is active in other countries that wish to join the extension in the future. See answer to B.8.

Under the patronage of UNESCO, the Meeting aimed to promote the UNESCO 2003 Convention, and specifically the multidisciplinary cultural values that have led to include "Falconry, a living human heritage" in the UNESCO Representative List.

As a result of this, also in Italy, due the project funded by February 20, 2006, n.77 many activities were organised with the help and the support of Italian and International Facilitators (Benedetta Ubertazzi, Harriet Deacon).
